

Vows New Effort on Flood Curb Wilson Notes Need After Creek Tour

Ulster County Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson today thanked the members of the Lower Esopus Creek Waterway Committee for the opportunity of participating in the Committee's "Challenge Tour" of the Esopus Creek Saturday and pledged to renew his efforts to obtain some measure of flood control for the local waterway.

Assemblyman Wilson said the inspection trip revealed a definite need for extensive clearing and dredging operations from the City of Kingston northward, as well as some workable plan to protect the hundreds of buildings which are in constant danger of sustaining flood damage.

Can't Ignore Figure

According to the Ulster County Assemblyman, a recent report by the United States Corps of Engineers said that during the past few years some $100,000 in flood damage had occurred along the lower Esopus Creek, but, Wilson went on to say, the Chairman of the local Waterway Committee, Huyler Van Wagenen, had informed him on Saturday that the committee has documented evidence that the actual amount of flood damage in the area is closer to a half a million dollars. The Assemblyman commented that such a staggering amount of property loss cannot be ignored by the Federal government, and he said that he will again urge the New York State Director of Flood Control, Horace S. Evans, to press for a complete re-survey and re-evaluation of the proposed flood control project by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Earlier this year Assemblyman Wilson had called a meeting of Federal, State and local officials to discuss the flood control question, and following that meeting the state Director of Flood Control had made a formal application to the Federal government for a complete study of the problem. Wilson said that the State, through the Department of Public Works, had pledged its full support in the matter, but that the project had been turned down by the Federal government on the grounds that flood control measures and stream clearing.

Indict Two in Trooper Case, Drop Fire Probe

Two men accused of shooting State Trooper Stanley Kowalczyk last Oct. 6 when he sought to question them in front of Smith Brothers Garage at Napanoch, were indicted today by the October grand jury which filed a partial report with Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn.

The men are Wesley Allen Brown, 31, of Spencerville, Md., and Ray Edison Davis, 25, of 228 Irvington Village, Houston, Tex. They are charged with first degree assault; criminally pos-

Lull Follows After Clashes

Reveal Sharp Rise In Cong Desertions

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese officials today announced a sharp rise in Viet Cong desertions to the South Vietnamese side. They reported 2,062 desertions from the Communist cause in October, the third highest month this year.

Rains Reduce Raids

The announcement came on the eve of South Viet Nam's National Day which will be celebrated with a big parade that will include 500 former Viet Cong in the line of march.

The war itself lapsed back into a lull after sharp weekend clashes. Only small ground actions were reported and monsoon rains again reduced U.S. air raids over North Viet Nam.

Viet Cong guerrillas shot down a U.S. C-123 cargo plane today in the dense jungles of the "iron triangle" 23 miles northwest of Saigon. The plane's three-man crew was rescued unhurt by Air Force helicopters.

Hit Suspected Camp

One wave of the bombers struck for the second straight day in the central highlands near the Cambodian border. The bombers hit at suspected base camps and staging areas of the North Vietnamese regulars who launched five assaults Saturday against units of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division and then vanished in the elephant grass and jungle growth. The raid was in support of Operation Paul Revere 4, taking place 43 miles southwest of Kontum City.

The other B-52s raided Communist troop concentrations 20 miles west of Quang Ngai City near the central coast.

Ho Reiterates Stand

In Hanoi, President Ho Chi Minh repeated that North Viet Nam will continue to fight until its peace terms are met. Hanoi's official news agency said Ho reiterated his stand in a recent interview for a French publication.

In Saigon, South Viet Nam's military rulers headed by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky formally opened Independence Palace as the nation's seat of government.

The palace was built for the French governors general of Indochina and has been in the process of being remodeled since planes bombed it in an attempt to kill President Ngo Dinh Diem.

No Explanation Offered

The National Day celebration Tuesday marks the third anniversary of Diem's overthrow, the date from which the present government dates the birth of the republic.

The October figure of 2,062 desertions was exceeded this year in March, when 2,236 Viet Cong desertions were reported, and in February, when the figure was 2,082.

Officials offered no immediate explanation for the October rise in Communist defections which in the past has fluctuated by seasons.

Warn Pranksters On Sounding of False Fire Calls

Here's a warning to those who might consider the sounding of false alarms and similar costly mischief on Halloween or at any other time.

Arrest Two Within Week

Within a week police have arrested two local men who were charged with maliciously sounding false alarms. One is to do six months in jail and hearing of the other is pending.

It was also emphasized today that both local police and firemen will have special patrols on duty. Volunteer firemen are to cover alarm box areas.

Maneuvers Noted in Ellenville

Say 20 Plotted To Blow Up Camp

Ulster and Dutchess County sites figured in weekend arrests of 20 members of the super-secret, right-wing Minutemen organization.

Although authorities declined to give names and locations of three private camps in New York State, New Jersey and Connecticut the Minutemen allegedly plotted to blow up a New York Daily News story today said one of them was "Camp Wehatauck, Wingdale, Dutchess County."

The News story also revealed Minutemen maneuvers were conducted in Ellenville, Ulster County.

Group Infiltrated

According to the News, another camp site slated for attack was Camp Midvale in Wanaque, Passaic County, N. J.

The News said that police had infiltrated the Minutemen, attended secret meetings as "members," recorded conversations and had taken innumerable photographs.

"They even participated in Minutemen maneuvers on the eastern tip of Suffolk County and in Ellenville, N. Y., in Ulster County. Bombs were tested on the maneuvers," the News story disclosed.

Ammo, Weapons Seized

According to Associated Press, tons of ammunition and weapons were seized in the raids.

Arsenal Confiscated

In lightning predawn raids Sunday in Queens, Westchester County, on Long Island, and at Syracuse, more than a hundred state, county and local police went into action. They said they confiscated arsenals that included mortars, bazookas, machine guns, semiautomatic rifles, homemade bombs, machetes, crossbows, garroting nooses, and a million rounds of ammunition.

The raids were announced by Queens Dist. Atty. Nat H. Hentel. He would not disclose the identity of the target camps, but added that the Minutemen group is dedicated to destroying "Communist, left-wing and liberal" installations of any kind.

7 Firemen Hurt Fighting Blaze in Downtown Area

Two adjacent houses in downtown's urban renewal area were damaged by fire Sunday and seven firemen reported injured.

Started in Kitchen

After starting in a kitchen, first floor rear, at 47 East Union Street, it burned upward there and through siding to second and third floor areas at No. 49, origin of the blaze was listed as unknown.

A telephone call at 5:10 p. m. was followed by two alarms from Box 2121, East Union and Chamber Streets. They mobilized units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks, Union Corbitts, Rapid, Twawall, Excelsior and Wiltwyck volunteers with Chief James M. Brett and Capt. Harry L. Sills in charge. Several of the volunteer companies mobilized were on stand-by call.

The building at 49 East Union Street is owned by the Kingston Urban Renewal, and the other owned by Jacob Basch, has not yet been acquired by the KURA.

Slate Dedication Of Wiltwyck Site By Rocky Friday

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller will visit Kingston Friday, Nov. 4 at 3 p. m. to participate in dedication ceremonies at Wiltwyck Gardens, the state-aided Senior Citizen Housing Development located on Albany Avenue, according to an announcement made today by George E. Yerry Jr., chairman of the Kingston Housing Authority.

Invitations Mailed

Yerry said invitations to attend the dedication are being extended to all city officials, civic organization, church groups, leaders of all political parties and to the public.

The program, which is to commence at 3 p. m., will open with the invocation by the Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church; remarks by Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan and James W. Gaynor, Commissioner of the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal. Dedication address and unveiling of plaque by Gov. Rockefeller, dedicatory prayer by the Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn of Temple Emanuel and the benediction by Most Reverend James E. McManus, Auxiliary Bishop of N.Y.

$858,000 Project

Wiltwyck Gardens was constructed at a cost of $858,000 of funds borrowed by the Housing Authority from the State of New York and consists of 30 three and one half room apartments and 30 two and one half room apartments.

Today, O'Connor was to visit Schenectady, Johnstown, Gloversville and Amsterdam before heading to his New York City home.

Two Million Greet President in Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — President Johnson was welcomed to South Korea today by an estimated two million people who broke down metal fences, swarmed around police and clung to rooftops for their first glimpse of the man hailed in a typical banner as the "Great Texas Giant."

Seoul turned out the biggest and friendliest crowd of Johnson's seven-nation tour around the eastern rim of Communist China.

Mixes With Throng

The President responded by popping out of his car half a dozen times to mix with the confetti-tossing, flag-waving throng.

Facing massed crowds estimated by police at 350,000 in City Hall Square, the President voiced concern for the safety of those who pushed, shoved and trampled each other in an effort

O'Connor Is Due Here Today, RFK Not With Party

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank D. O'Connor's campaign got underway in Upstate New York today without Robert F. Kennedy, who had to cancel most of his trip to assist the Democratic challenger to Gov. Rockefeller.

O'Connor was scheduled to arrive in the city about 3 p. m. for an appearance at the Kingston Shopping Plaza. His other appearances were to be in Hudson at 2:15 p. m., Poughkeepsie 4:30 p. m., Newburgh 5:30 p. m. and Spring Valley 7:30 p. m.

O'Connor had hoped to utilize Kennedy's crowd-drawing charm on the one-day swing. He learned early today, however, that the Democratic senator could not make the early leg of the trip because of his late arrival in New York City this morning from a speaking tour in New England.

At the same time, Republican Rockefeller's campaign moved to Western New York.

Eerie Halloween Happening Still Lingers in Florida 35 Years Later

By ANNE SMITH
Miami Herald Writer

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — One of the eeriest of Halloween happenings in the United States began here — in the nation's southernmost city — 35 years ago. The mystery lingers on.

It was a chilly end of October night when beautiful Elena Hoyos, 22, died of tuberculosis. The torture she had felt in life was gone, but even in death her body would not rest in peace.

As Elena died, a friend named Bienvenido Perez marched in a Halloween parade in a devil costume Elena had made for him.

Minutes later he was pounding at her door. "Something told me she was dying and I rushed to her house," Perez said. His suspicion was right.

One of the mourners at Elena's funeral was German-born Karl Von Cosel, a man in his 60s who was a technician at the Marine Hospital. He held a deep admiration for the girl.

He painted her name on the side of his airplane after the funeral. Perez visited Von Cosel a few days later.

Inside the plane, propped up in a chair, was Elena's body. Perez, ordered away by Von Cosel, raced to the home of Elena's sister, Florida Lachina Medina.

Mrs. Lachina Medina didn't believe Von Cosel had her sister's body. She told Perez it was only a wax replica.

The macabre events quieted for a while.

But eight years later Von Cosel had built a shack in the brush near 17th and Flager Aves. Perez, who had been elected constable, received word from undertaker Ben Lopez to take a look.

Inside, he said, he found Elena's body.

A young attorney, Enrique Esquinado Jr., became interested in the case. He said Mrs. Lachina Medina had been to see him and spoke of a fear she felt every time she visited her sister's crypt.

She had been to see Von Cosel, too. "Don't worry," she said he told her. "Your sister is all right. I have her here with me."

Elena was lying in Von Cosel's shack on the same bed she died in. Esquinado took the news to the sheriff. But the sheriff said Von Cosel was innocent. He liked to work with papier mache dolls.

Mrs. Lachina Medina still wanted Esquinado to do something. She had begged Von Cosel to take Elena's body back to the crypt. But he didn't.

Esquinado swore out a

An increase of $25,440 in appropriations in the 1967 preliminary Town of Saugerties budget, offset by an increase of estimated revenues and an $18,000 saving in the town highway department is expected to keep the town tax rate near its current level.

$65.75 Present Rate

The figures in the $226,210 preliminary town budget announced by Supervisor Peter M. Williams with no large increase of county charges should keep the town tax rate near $65.75, the rate per $1,000 of assessed valuation last year.

The total appropriation for the cost of town government will be $137,710, and as estimated revenues will total about $143,983, a balance of $16,273 for contingencies will require no levy of taxes for the operation of the

ONE OF THE FIRST HOMES TO GO — The final home of Kingston's first resident—Thomas Chambers—is one of the buildings slated to disappear in the urban renewal demolition work. Shown above, the now vacant home was built sometime prior to 1700. Historical officials say the building was "probably" much smaller and later enlarged by the Hasbrouck and Reel families, through whose hands it passed. An interesting sidelight is that the tombstone marking the grave of Chambers, who was buried beneath a pear tree in the rear yard, it was later used in forming the foundation of the home's addition. It was retrieved and is on display in Kingston's Senate House Museum. The exact age of the home is not known although the same museum official who said the building was occupied by Chambers said he died April 8, 1694. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Sharp increases in percentage by New Paltz and Saugerties over the weekend have helped The Ulster County Community Chest Drive inch toward its goal. The total now stands at $220,282.33 with the goal being $299,600.

Saugerties has now donated $5,976.76 or 91.9 per cent of its pledge of $6,500. New Paltz contributed over $2,700 over the weekend to raise its total to $7,916.42 or 77.6 per cent of its goal.

Sam Fraton, publicity chairman for the Chest told the Freeman today, "We're really encouraged by these late returns from Saugerties and New Paltz. If the rest of the County can respond like New Paltz and Saugerties we should have no trouble reaching the goal."

INFLATIONARY PRESSURES

Inflationary pressures in the national economy continue to keep money tight and interest rates high. How long these conditions will endure is problematical.

But President Johnson, in his September, 1966 message to Congress, made the following statement: "I urge the Federal Reserve Board and our large commercial banks to cooperate with the President and Congress to lower interest rates and to ease the inequitable burden of tight money."

Every investor in America who is interested in establishing a long-term position in high-grade securities paying big income might well memorize that statement and start putting it to work.

How is that done? By buying U. S. Treasury obligations — short and long term. Or by purchasing the bonds of America's leading corporations that are selling at interesting discounts from face value.

If interest rates fall and tight money vanishes, America will experience a boom in bond prices.

In recent weeks, this column devoted itself frequently to a discussion of present conditions. Money rates are at a 40-year high. And they cannot last forever.

The most powerful interest-setting board in the world is the Federal Reserve Board. It establishes basic interest rates. Today, commercial banks borrowing from the Federal Reserve Banks pay 4½ per cent annually.

That means that a national bank borrowing $1,000,000 from its Federal Reserve Bank pays $45,000 a year for the loan. In 1956, the cost was only $30,000 and in 1946, it was only $10,000.

In 1946, America had "cheap" money — low interest rates — and the United States Government and leading corporations floated bond issues successfully. Today, these bonds are selling at very low prices and every investor can, if he wishes, establish a position in bonds that will assure him of long-term, high interest rates.

Read again what President Johnson said to Congress about tight money and act accordingly.

As this is written, the U. S. Treasury 3¼ per cent bonds due in 1985 can be bought for $1.00 in unlimited amounts for 81 cents on the dollar. The Treasury 4 per cent bonds due in 1980 can be had for 90 cents on the dollar.

American Telephone and Telegraph — the world's greatest communications system — has high-grade bonds outstanding that sell for 68 cents on the dollar.

General Motors Acceptance Corporation has an issue of 4 per cent bonds available (at present writing) for 83 cents on the dollar.

United States Steel — the world's leading industrial enterprise — has a long-term 4 per cent bond outstanding that can be bought for 85 cents on the dollar.

If president Johnson has his way, eventually money will get cheaper and all of these bonds will advance sharply in price.

These dollar obligations can be bought and sold instantly in the security markets. They are the highest-grade collateral for commercial bank loans.

This column is thirty-four and a half years old. And in all these years, investors have never had a more favorable opportunity to buy good merchandise at low prices than at present.

Sister Josephine Dies, Headed Upstate College

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Funeral services will be conducted here Wednesday for Sister Mary Josephine, dean of Villa Maria College in suburban Cheektowaga since its founding six years ago.

Sister Mary Josephine, a member of the Felician Sisters, died Sunday in Sisters Hospital, where she had undergone surgery earlier this month. She would have been 56 years old Wednesday.

She joined the staff of the Roman Catholic junior college for women after teaching at elementary parochial schools in Buffalo, Rome and Syracuse, N.Y., and Erie, Pa. and serving on the faculty and as principal of Villa Maria Academy, Buffalo.

Sister Mary Josephine was the former Genevieve Kopec of Buffalo.

Plan to Cut Flow For Check of Debris

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers plans an attempt Saturday to cut the water flow over the American Falls to inspect the rock debris at its base.

The corps has been studying the falls to determine what can be done to prevent further erosion of the cataract.

A corps spokesman said the falls will not be dried up, but that enough water will be diverted to permit soundings and aerial photographs.

The engineers will cut the flow by diverting more water to the U. S. and Canadian power projects and closing sluiceways on the American side of the Niagara River.

Because a proper combination of wind direction on Lake Erie and the river flow is needed for the operation, plans call for a second attempt Sunday if the first one fails.

A new and exclusive Blue Cross benefit

Now you can qualify for blood in unlimited amounts whenever you or someone in your family needs a transfusion.

This new benefit, developed in cooperation with the Community Blood Council, is a Blue Cross exclusive—no other health plan has anything like it!

Here's how it works: A small percentage of the members of any company, union or other Blue Cross group donates blood through an acceptable Blue Cross Blood Program.

This automatically establishes credit for unlimited amounts of replacement blood for all members of the group and their families. Since the average transfusion requires three to four pints, and major surgery can run to 20, 30, or more, this can be a substantial saving.

Almost 200,000 New York City employees... policemen, firemen, public school teachers... have already signed up for this new blood benefit.

Many other large and small groups, as well as direct-payment Blue Cross subscribers, have also established eligibility for themselves and their families.

For information on how your company, union or other group can qualify for this new life-saving benefit, see your Blue Cross representative. Or write today to: Blue Cross, 80 Lexington Ave., New York 10016. Or phone MUrray Hill 9-2800.

Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Give-aways, contests and sweepstakes are sweeping the country today but your chances of winning anything of great value are very, very small.

Many gasoline stations, for example, are playing matching games. Each time you enter the station you receive a marked piece of paper — an envelope or ticket usually — which you hope to match with another — perhaps on a subsequent visit.

Chances Fair

What are your chances? Not bad for a small prize, of which there generally are many. The odds are prohibitive on the larger prizes. It is possible in some contests that a top prize never will be won.

In one of these games, considered high-paying, the company says it has budgeted $10,000 in prizes for every one million entries printed. The average, then, is one cent per entry. But of course the contestant doesn't put up any money.

The returns on this type of advertising can be tremendous, if temporary. Stories circulate in the contest and gasoline industries of stations whose sales have spurred 50 per cent. Some of this business, it is hoped, will remain.

Many of the more popular games involve a number mailed to you, either in its own envelope or in a publication. "You may already have won a valuable prize," says the advertiser with the number. Your job is to check your number against a list, generally posted in a store.

To Combat Inertia

The purpose of these sweepstakes is to overcome inertia, "to get someone inside your store, to have someone look at the advertisement in the envelope," says a sales specialist. "When we take the pressure off — end the contest — we hope sales will stay at a higher level," he explained.

Most games encourage you to do something active about the product, such as to read a small figure on the label of a jar, thereby fixing the product name in your mind. The "25 words or less" games encourage you to write about the qualities of a product. So do the jingle contests.

There are curious aspects to many of these games. In some, for example, you seldom hear about the winner unless you ask for it. Seldom is there a public announcement. Why?

To Create Interest

"There's no return on that type of advertising," says a mail order man. "The idea of the contest is to get people actively interested in your product. The jazz is to get everyone excited. After the contest there's no jazz."

Are there always winners? Always, but seldom for all the prizes. In fact, a contest producer claims that 50 per cent of Americans who enter contests have won something at one time or another. Very few, however, have ever won a car, nor do they know anybody who has.

"If one million lucky numbers are mailed to people," the mail order man said, "you might have 10,000 prizes. That is, one per cent of the number mailed are winning numbers." This makes the odds 100 to 1 for any prize, much greater for a prize of great value.

Perhaps 20 or 30 per cent of the winning numbers are returned, but it may be as low as 10 per cent. Although a producer of games feels that "to throw away a coupon is not a simple judgment to make," many people do just that.

Since only 10 per cent of the tickets may be turned in for prizes, only 10 per cent of the available prizes are handed out in some contests. The unwon prize could be one of the valuable prizes.

This perhaps lets a company to run a sweepstakes of apparently far greater size than it really is. Says a producer: "If I have a client with $25,000 to spend I tell him he can have a $100,000 sweepstakes."

The producers say the winning numbers, chosen by an electronic computer, are guarded in a vault. Some employees are bonded. Usually the client and the mailer do not know the winners.

"We're very keenly involved with honesty and integrity," said one of the larger innovators of contest games. "It is absolutely critical to us to see that our business is honest."

Olive Church Has Halloween Party

Fifty-five members of the church and community attended an evening of fun, fellowship, and food during the annual Halloween party in the basement of the Olive-Shokan Baptist Church, West Shokan, Friday night.

After an hour of games under the direction of Gail Nichols and Elizabeth Barringer, refreshments were served.

The social hour was concluded with a dramatic reading of "If Jesus Came to Your House by Mrs. James Wilson, a message of devotion and prayer by Lawrence Every, and group singing.

The basement was decorated in a Halloween motif by Davida Barringer, Gail Nichols, Sally Schlatterer, Alfred Wilson, Peggy North, and Miss Evelyn Every.

The entire Halloween party was under the direction of the Hospitality Committee, Mrs. Francis Every and Mrs. Charles Wood and the camp and recreation committee, Francis Every, Mrs. Norman Ronk, Mrs. Martha Morton.

Expect Gotham Domination if Dems Win: Rock

ALBION, N.Y. (AP) — With only eight days remaining before the state election, Gov. Rockefeller made his final personal plea for Upstate votes today, warning against what he called a "New York City machine take-over" of Upstate government by Democrats.

The Republican governor continued to attack the record of Democratic challenger Frank D. O'Connor as he pushed off for the last Upstate tour of the campaign.

Rockefeller's calendar listed appearances in Brockport, Albion, Lockport, North Tonawanda and Buffalo. Orleans County was the only county in New York State Rockefeller had not visited during the campaign and his Albion stop was designed to rectify that oversight.

Renewing a theme on which he has hit repeatedly before Upstate audiences, Rockefeller said today a vote for any of his three opponents was "really a vote for New York City — type takeover of state government."

In a speech prepared for a luncheon audience at Albion, the governor said:

"The real question in this election is whether you want to continue the kind of progressive government for the whole state which gives special attention to the problems of Upstate as well as Downstate."

"Either you vote to continue this kind of responsible statewide government by voting for my administration, or you don't," Rockefeller added.

Before heading Upstate, the governor described as a "stand-off" the television debate Saturday night involving himself and the three other candidates for governor.

The hour-long TV confrontation was the first meeting of the four candidates during the campaign. Two other television debates are scheduled, both next Sunday.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The situation on Sunday night's "Ed Sullivan Show" was absolutely normal.

There was a military drill team snapping through its paces. There was an impressionist on the bill complying with what is obviously a show rule — another impression of host Sullivan.

For the culture crowd there was a bit of "Elizabeth the Queen," with Judith Anderson. For the teens there was a rock 'n' roll singer.

Fool-Proof Recipe

In recent seasons the show has gone into color and spruced up its production values. But under the new icing, the cake is there, made from the same fool-proof recipe Sullivan has been using for the past 18 years.

It calls for the widest range of acts, from jugglers to grand opera, from Beatles to Belafonte. Most of the time the artists, even the biggest star names, are given only a few minutes in the spotlight. But because Sullivan tries to put in something for every segment of the audience, viewers are likely to stick with the show, knowing that even if the act of the moment is not pleasing, it won't last long, and they may like the next one.

This is a season in which six of the 10 weekly variety shows on the three networks are not, quite frankly, howling successes. In the most recent Nielsen ratings, only three could be counted in the hit category.

It is not coincidence that all three have been around for a long time. There is Red Skelton, a magnificent clown, in his 14th television season. Lawrence Welk has now been around weekly for 12 years.

Each Show Predictable

Each show has its own distinct personality and is predictable. The Sullivan show is, of course, an hour of vaudeville. But so is "Hollywood Palace" in the lower half of the Nielsen list.

Danny Kaye is a great clown.

Killed in Accident

WEST ISLIP, N.Y. (AP) — George H. Wells, 23, of this community, was killed early Monday when his car went out of control on Montauk Highway and struck a tree, police reported.

Wells' passenger, John C. Wernet, 22, also of West Islip, was in serious condition.

Police said a car close behind the Wells auto also left the highway and struck an 11th pole. The driver, Dean H. Burchard, 22, of West Islip, was described as in fair condition.

Wells lived at 82 Sherman Ave. Wernet resides at 82 Gladstone Ave., and Burchard at 846 Mulligan Lane.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 31, 1966

DELEGATES-AT-LARGE

The most important votes many persons ever will cast will be those for delegates to the 1967 Constitutional Convention at the general election November 8.

Because of the composition of the Democratic and Liberal at-large slates which are largely identical and are weighted heavily in favor of New York City, the outcome of the election is of vital significance to upstate residents. The Democratic at-large slate has 12 candidates who are New York City residents. It is difficult to conceive that they could be sympathetic to upstate problems even if they had knowledge of these problems.

The Republican slate of delegates-at-large to the Constitutional Convention is comprised of four members of New York City, four in the suburbs of Nassau and Westchester Counties and seven from upstate. It is a ticket that includes persons of the calibre of Senator Jacob K. Javits, Judge Kenneth B. Keating of the Court of Appeals and former Lieut. Governor Frank C. Moore.

Here is a dynamic combination of eminently qualified to solve for all of New York State residents the complex problems that will come before the convention when it assembles next April.

On the voting machine, the 15 delegates-at-large candidates will be offered as a single block on party lines of the Republican, Democratic, Liberal and Conservative Parties. Individual voting is possible on machines but the cumbersome process of lining out some names and writing in others on a small tearoff slip and sticking the slip in place on a paper roller on the machine will preclude its use by most voters.

The Constitutional Convention is of tremendous importance to all voters. The best qualified persons should be elected for this important work.

We recommend without reservation the election of the Republican delegates-at-large. Pull down the 5A lever on the voting machine.

MANILA: A STEP FORWARD

The Manila Conference agreement gives cause for both gratification and concern. It appears to reflect a genuine interest in achieving peace, an interest that goes well beyond mere window-dressing. There is a wholesome emphasis on the importance of improving South Vietnam's political and social conditions, and of promoting freedom and stability throughout Asia and the Pacific. But concern arises from the question whether the statement, for all its worthy pronouncements, brings us much closer to the kind of negotiations that must precede a viable peace in Vietnam.

Misgivings are prompted by the rather vague provision for withdrawal of United States and allied forces within six months "as the other side withdraws its forces to the north, ceases infiltration, and the level of violence thus subsides." This provision is questionable on two counts.

One is that an undertaking to pull out under such ill-defined circumstances is open to varying interpretation and may not strike Hanoi as much of an inducement to call a halt to the fighting. The other is that the approval seems to be based in the shaky military premise that once North Vietnam withdraws its forces the South Vietnamese will be able to deal by themselves with whatever insurgency remains. The history of the conflict, whose salient point is that the South Vietnamese army was losing the fight until U. S. troops went to the rescue, suggests a different outcome that would leave things as they were before we entered the picture.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
AS RULERS IN ASIA GROW OLD

Chiang Kai-shek, the President of the Republic of China on the island of Taiwan, is 79 years old today. His archenemy, the Red Chinese dictator Mao Tse-tung, is some six years younger, at 73. Ho Chi Min, Mao's accomplice in North Vietnam, is 76. All of them have unfulfilled dreams. Chiang hopes to go back to the mainland before he dies; Mao is looking to make his principles prevail for all time on that same mainland. And Ho would like to think he is carrying the Mao revolution southward.

Conceivably, a lot will depend on who lasts the longest. Chiang has the physical presence of a man who might be in his late sixties rather than entering his eightieth year. Nobody in the West really knows the state of Mao's health, or Ho Chi Min's. The stories about Mao have had him suffering from a number of things, from Parkinson's disease to cancer of the throat (the seems allergic of late months to making speeches). But the stories could be the result of wishful thinking. While nobody believes that Mao really made that record-breaking swim in the Yangtze, he could linger on for a long time yet. A number of Western rulers. Portugal's Salazar at 72, de Gaulle at 76, Franco at 74 and East Germany's Ulbricht at 73—are contemporaries of Mao, and show no outward signs of giving up.

But recognizing that both Mao and Chiang Kai-shek will both go someday, who has built more strongly for the future? Mao is trying desperately to pass on his aura, or charisma, or whatever you want to call it, to his Defense Minister, Lin Biao. Lin is a military man who headed the 4th Field Army of the so-called Liberation Army. He has had periods of sickness in his life, but is now apparently in good health, and he has the reputation of commanding the loyalty of men who have served directly under him. But in picking Lin to be his successor, Mao has chosen to set the military over the Communist Party. It didn't happen this way in Soviet Russia, where the Red Army has always been subservient to the will of a politburo and a civilian dictator. Moreover, in giving the nod to Lin, Mao has not trusted the whole army to support him. The fact that Mao's cultural purge had to be put into the hands of 18-year-old Red Guards could be highly significant. If things were going well in Red China, the Communist Party hierarchy, from Liu Shao-chi, the official head of state, down to the leaders of the Communist Youth, would still be running things for Chairman Mao.

When Mao goes, the question is whether a military dictator who has enemies both inside and outside the army will be able to get any production out of his countrymen and Red China is staggering now: there are well-authenticated reports of famine conditions threatening from drought in the North and floods in the South. The country will make out on Canadian wheat, but in doing this it will have to sacrifice hard-earned foreign exchange. And the industrial machine, bereft of the tools that might have been bought with that foreign exchange, will continue to age even as Mao himself is aging.

On Chiang Kai-shek's Taiwan, things have been going the other way. The island is prosperous, out of the countrymen and Red China is staggering now: there are well-authenticated reports of famine conditions threatening from drought in the North and floods in the South. The country will make out on Canadian wheat, but in doing this it will have to sacrifice hard-earned foreign exchange. And the industrial machine, bereft of the tools that might have been bought with that foreign exchange, will continue to age even as Mao himself is aging.

The nation that Chiang Kai-shek has built on Taiwan rests on sound and enduring foundations; the nation that Mao is attempting to hold to his "principles" on the mainland will in all probability depend on the bayonets of Lin Biao's military guard. If Chiang outlives Mao, some interesting things are apt to happen. Don't be too sure that Chiang won't be able to make a deal with new war lords who will arise in mainland China to contest Lin Biao's control. (Copyright, 1966, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE WELL CHILD

All Take 'Cure' to Prevent Recurrence of Pinworms

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A mother asks how children contract pinworms and after the disease is cured how to prevent recurrences.

This disease is so common that almost everyone has it at one time or another. Bedsores and night clothes become contaminated with the eggs, which measure only 1/500th of an inch in their greatest length. They are easily picked up on the fingers or under the nails when scratching.

Furthermore, they are so light that they may be spread throughout a room by sweeping, dusting, changing the bed linen or hanging up pajamas. From the fingers they may be transferred to food. Once swallowed they hatch and grow to adulthood in the digestive tract.

Prevention of a recurrence is not easy. The first step is to insist that all members of the household take the treatment simultaneously and then repeat the treatment in three or four weeks to kill any new crop of worms that may be maturing in the body. In the meantime there are several drugs for this purpose, tablets of gentian violet are the most widely used because they are both effective and low in cost.

During the treatment all undergarments should be boiled daily in a solution of two cups of household ammonia to 10 gallons of water. Before boiling they should be handled without shaking. The bedclothes should be similarly boiled two or three times a week.

In addition, each member of the family must keep his or her nails cut short and wash the hands and clean the fingernails before every meal and after every visit to the toilet. Separate towels must be used for drying the face and the rest of the body.

Q—My doctor prescribed Pamoate for pinworms. Is it effective? What are the side effects?

A—A single dose of pyriminyl pamoate (Povam) will cure over 90 per cent of cases of pinworm. There are no serious side effects but it may cause nausea and mild abdominal cramps. If it is vomited, the vomit will stain any clothing it touches a bright red. Following a dose of the drug the stools will also be bright red but this does not indicate bleeding.

Q—When a child has pinworms should he be kept home from school?

A—No. It's not that much of a health problem. Treat him at home and instruct him in personal hygiene.

researcher for the government, of 200 young middle-class couples.

Ryder reports with what seems to be a straight face that his studies have caused him to wonder if martial compatibility and stuff like that may not be strictly for the birds. Or at least not for humans.

It may be possible, Ryder concedes, for compatible couples to live happily together. But it's also possible, he seems to fear, for such a marriage to be deadly dull, monotonous and just plain ugly.

Is the doctor suggesting that martial brawls be deliberately induced to spice things up and bring a little sushine into lives jaded by harmony?

Not at all. He just wonders if too much blandness isn't boring.

Washington News

LOS ANGELES (NEA) — It may or may not prove crucial to the outcome, but the evidence is strong that Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown's campaign strategy in his third term bid against Republican Roland Reagan has misfired almost from the start.

Basically, the key tactic was intended as an updated version of the one that worked so well for Brown twice before — make the other fellow the issue and ride in on the Pat Brown sympathy syndrome.

In its 1966 application, this meant casting wouldn't hurt a fly Ronald Reagan as the wicked agent of California's noisy and well-heeled far right.

The strategy has failed utterly. California voters simply refuse to see the black mustache drawn on the genial Reagan's boyishly innocent face.

At the eleventh hour, Brown is feverishly trying to regain lost time by asking voters: "Would you believe Ronald Reagan, political greenhorn?"

The miscalculations involved in the Brown strategy are seen by veteran appraisers here as nothing short of colossal.

The judgement is that Reagan probably was never salable to California voters as a John Birch-style extremist, since his background as a Democratic and Actors Union leader suggest a nonideological flexibility.

Even more baffling to some political figures is the way the Brown camp clung to the tactic long after its worthlessness seemed thoroughly demonstrated. Somewhat sadly, a Brown aide commented:

"At this stage of the game you are so deeply committed to

Quick Quiz

Q—What national epic served as a model for Longfellow's poem "The Song of Hiawatha?"
A—Kalevala, the national epic of Finland.

Q—According to the Bible, Noah's Ark was made of gopher wood. Has the wood been identified?

A—The identity of the wood is uncertain because the term gopher wood appears nowhere else. It has been identified by many Biblical scholars as cypress, one of the most durable woods in the world.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

They sat in the spacious office — one behind the oak desk, the other in front of it — like strange dogs who walk stiff-legged around each other. Chum-Chum was there for a bank loan. Mr. Clyde Weatherby was sure that he would not grant it. Chum-Chum made matters worse by insisting that the bank president didn't know how to make money.

Mr. Weatherby, who has a figure like a hard-boiled Easter egg, said that it was strange he had the money, and Chum-Chum wanted it. Luck, Chum-Chum said. Weatherby and his vice presidents had been squeezing widows and orphans on home mortgages for years, and the bank had millions in tears.

Chum-Chum was hardly tactful. He spoke like a man who wants to foreclose his chances of getting what he came for. His name, of course, was not Chum-Chum. It was Alphonse Berry, but this was used only on legal documents and police blotchers. Fellow gamblers called him Chum-Chum, with a fine feeling for irony, because Chum-Chum wouldn't stake his mother to a hamburger without collateral.

He was a tall stately-looking man, with the eyes and beak of a falcon. He wanted $2,000 for 30 days, and Weatherby said it was against bank policy to lend money to known gamblers. Chum-Chum said he would pay 10 per cent instead of the usual six, and Weatherby rocked in his great leather chair and said Chum-Chum was wasting his time.

The gambler tried a new trick. "Have we ever met before?" he said. The banker shrugged. "Not to my knowledge," he said. Then, said Chum-Chum, how do you know I'm a gambler? The banker chuckled. "You may as well ask how I know that Dr. Penny is pastor of the Methodist Church, or that the biggest crook in town is Mayor Van Buren. It's public knowledge. Now, if you will excuse me Chum-Chum didn't stir. "Why are you afraid to admit that you and I were boots at Parris Island 25 years ago?" he said softly. The banker, reaching for his phone, paralyzed his hand. "When we were what?" he said. Chum-Chum grinned. "Boots, trainees. Marine Corps, 1941. We were in the same platoon." Weatherby shook his head in sorrow.

"Now I know you're not a good risk," he said. "Your head is unscrewed. I was never in service. The draft board record shows that I was too young for World War I and too old for the second one. Now, if I may return to my work."

Chum-Chum frowned. "You and I were in the same platoon," he said. "I couldn't make a mistake on a face like that. I'll prove it. You have a birthmark like a quarter moon. It runs from the lower spine down one leg." The banker laughed for the first time. "The only blemish I have," he said, with confidence, "is a wart on my chest."

The gambler pulled a wallet out. Weatherby watched him count out 20 fifty dollar bills. "I got a G says you have that birthmark," he said. "If you haven't I don't get the loan and you get a thousand dollars for three minutes work." The banker threw up his hands. "You're daffy," he said. "Prove it," Chum-Chum said

Sounds More Impatient Now

Even FDR, Winnie Had Their Trying Time With DeGaulle

By ENDRE MARTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — To understand Charles de Gaulle you should leaf back through history. It may help, though you may not understand him even then.

This is the advice one gets trying to explain the French president's press conference statement last Friday. What he said was hardly new, but the way he said it was more impatient, more acid than before.

Dismiss Simplification
Students of history dismiss the simplification that whatever De Gaulle says or does, his motive is to spite his allies. His motive is much nobler: for decades he tried to play the part of a mediator between East and West, the two blocs superior to France in power, but inferior, he believes, in historical experience.

The younger generation cautions against the myth of historical experience. Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach said in a speech the other day that there is danger in "holding too fast to the lessons of experience and believing too certainly that they were right." De Gaulle is 75, Katzenbach 44.

De Gaulle said the United States cannot win the war in Viet Nam. But in De Gaulle's vocabulary there is only one kind of victory: The annihilation of the enemy. He appears not to grasp that the United States has no such ambition in Viet Nam.

Two Left Frustrated
Those annoyed by him today should find comfort in reading records of the wars years when President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill were frustrated by De Gaulle's dreams of grandeur for himself and his country.

"De Gaulle is impossible," Churchill complained to Secretary of State Cordell Hull in May, 1943. "I am completely disgusted by him."

"De Gaulle may be a good man, but he has a Messianic complex," wrote Roosevelt to Churchill in May, 1943. One month later he added: "I am fed up with De Gaulle. I agree with you that the time has come for us to part company with him."

"It is impossible to trust De Gaulle's friendship," replied Churchill in June. But, he advised, "We cannot forget that he joined us in the darkest hours and that he tried to carry on the struggle against the Germans. The man is impossible, but one must take those facts into account."

Aware of Feelings
De Gaulle was aware of what his partners thought of him; therefore he always had to be on the alert. He was either defensive or offensive and seldom agreed with either of them. He did not change in this respect.

Yet even his bitter critics grudgingly accept him as the living symbol of French greatness. He appeared in French history at a time when France was undergoing a fearsome process of aging and he twice pulled the country back onto its feet.

De Gaulle is an aging man. American policy planners ask: Is the regime founded by the general a Gaullist one or merely De Gaulle's? Is Gaullism the work of one man, or is it a coherent doctrine which will survive him?

Carrier Disaster Ruled Accidental By Navy's Chief

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Adm. David L. McDonald, chief of U.S. naval operations, said Saturday the fire aboard the aircraft carrier Oriskany apparently was caused by the accidental explosion of a flare and no changes in operating procedures have been ordered. The fire killed 43 navy men.

Ruptured Men Get $4.95 Gift for Trying This

Kansas City, Mo.—Here is an improved means of holding rupture that has benefitted thousands of ruptured men and women in the last year.

Inconspicuous, without leg straps, elastic belts, body encircling springs or harsh pads, it has caused many to say, "I don't see how it holds so easy. I would not have believed, had I not tried it."

So comfortable — so easy to wear — it could show you the way to joyous freedom from your rupture trouble.

You can't lose by trying. It is sent to you on 30 days trial. You receive a $4.95 special truss as a present for your report.

Write for descriptive circular. It's free. Just address Physicians Appliance Company, 7543, Koch Bldg., 515 W. 75th St., Kansas City, Mo. 64114.

But do it today or you lose the address.

The fire erupted Wednesday in a flare locker on the carrier as it steamed in the Gulf of Tonkin. Within minutes flames and smoke swept into the forward sections of the ship. After the fire was put out, the Oriskany left for the Philippines for repairs.

McDonald said the carrier's absence affected only temporarily the Navy's air assault on North Viet Nam targets.

Coral Sea Subs

The Oriskany, he said, had been scheduled to go off the three-carrier line in two or three days. The carrier Coral Sea will replace the Oriskany. The Oriskany accident stretches U.S. 7th Fleet carrier tours in the western Pacific, however, McDonald said.

He said five carriers are normally assigned to the western Pacific fleet with three on station in the Gulf of Tonkin.

"We can keep three on the line, but it (the Oriskany accident) makes it tougher," he said.

Asked if the long, exhausting hours worked by carrier crewmen may have been a factor in the accident, McDonald said he did not believe so.

"This was unusual, we don't have accidents like this," he said. "The tempo of the operation has nothing to do with it."

Schedules Inspection

McDonald arrived in Viet Nam from Washington for a week-long review of Navy operations. He planned to begin a visit Sunday to the three on-line carriers: the Coral Sea, Constellation and Roosevelt.

McDonald was questioned about the effectiveness of air attacks against North Viet Nam. Infiltration has not been stopped," he said, "but it has been hampered measurably."

"Had it not been curtailed we might have found a lot of dead American soldiers and Marines."

"Ask the soldiers — ask the Marines — if they want the bombing discontinued. They think it's pretty well worthwhile."

Discussing Navy personnel problems, the admiral said he expects the service will find itself short of certain skilled personnel periodically, but recent legislation permitting increased re-enlistment bonuses will help the Navy fill the jobs.

The Navy has an adequate number of pilots, he said, but he indicated the supply was only adequate. War demands, he said, require the Navy to use its young pilots "in the way we would not prefer to. We cannot send as many as we would like to graduate schools or to rotate them through other jobs."

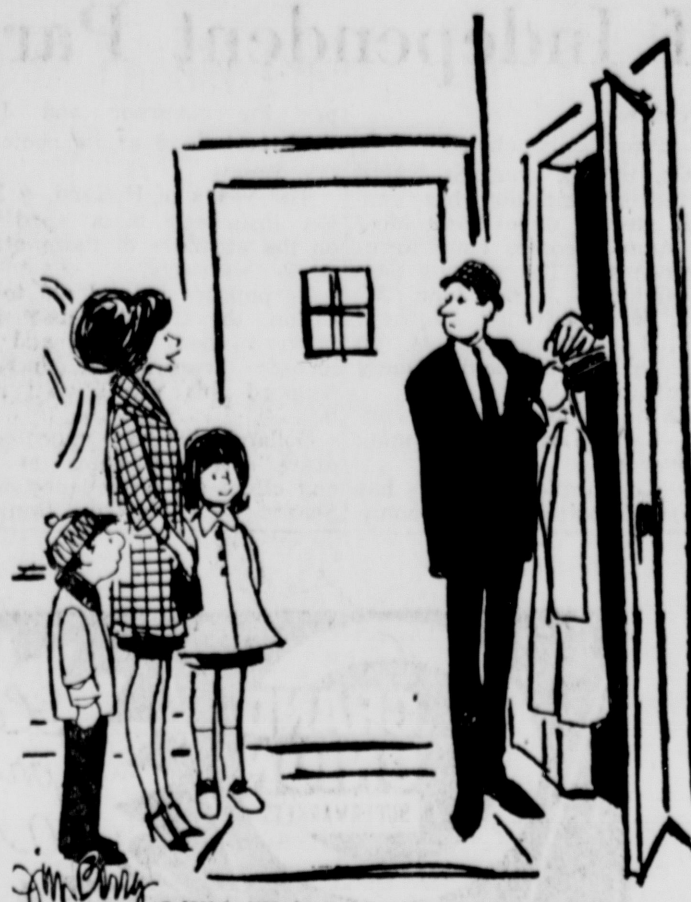

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said recently that the American people should anticipate increased losses of American pilots in the air war over Viet Nam. McDonald was asked if the Navy also expected to lose more and more of its pilots.

"I don't see any increases in our percentage losses," he replied, "as their defenses improve our offensive tactics also improve."

Levitt Says 5 Cities Are at Tax Limitation

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt says the state's six largest cities virtually have reached their constitutional property tax limitations, with five cities using over 98 per cent of their taxing powers.

Levitt said Sunday his office had compiled data on property tax limits for local governments for the use of delegates to next spring's State Constitutional Convention.

Although the power to tax property is the "fiscal cornerstone of home rule," he said, Yonkers is using 98.99 per cent

Probe Jet Crash, Pregnant Woman Burned Critically

POLAND, N.Y. (AP) — Air Force investigators sought to determine today what caused a jet fighter plane to crash and burn, critically injuring a pregnant housewife.

Mrs. Albert Eaton, 19, remained in critical condition today, with extensive burns suffered when the F-86 craft crashed into her trailer home Saturday at the edge of this village, northeast of Utica.

The pilot, Capt. William R. Kershlis, 34, of Ithaca, had parachuted to safety after the plane developed mechanical trouble, with smoke and fire pouring from it.

Mrs. Eaton suffered first and second-degree burns of the upper body and feet. A witness said she "came flying out of the trailer," landing on her shoulder, about 15 feet away.

A hospital spokesman said Sunday the woman — "had not lost the child. As far as we know," the spokesman said, the child Mrs. Eaton is carrying "is all right."

Mrs. Eaton was alone in the trailer when the crash occurred. Her husband, James, was at work driving a truck for a Herkimer lumber company.

When the craft developed trouble, an Air Force spokesman said, Kershlis was ordered to bail out. The flier parachuted into a field near Cold Brook, about five miles from the crash scene.

The plane dug a path about 400 yards long and tore through a clump of trees before striking the Eaton trailer and another, unoccupied trailer.

Will Picket Humphrey

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The American Council of Christian Churches plans a protest meeting at Miami Beach, Fla., if Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey speaks before the National Council of Churches there Dec. 1 as scheduled.

The council said in a resolution adopted at its 25th annual meeting that his speech to the church group would involve "a serious violation of the principles upon which our religious liberty stands."

Slim Chance Against Dems, GOP

Roosevelt Leads Record Number Of Independent Party Nominees

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
WASHINGTON (AP) — It will be a major surprise if an independent or minor party candidate is elected to high office this fall, but it won't be for lack of effort. There are 71 running for the House, 13 for the Senate and 16 for governor.

The figures cover only those who put their names on the ballot. In addition, there are written efforts on behalf of others.

Best-known nationally of the minor party candidates is Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who took the Liberal party's nomination for governor of New York when his efforts to obtain the Democratic nomination failed.

Charges Deal Made
The 52-year-old son of the late president charged that party bosses had made a "deal" to give the Democratic nomination to Frank D. O'Connor.

The Conservative party also has a candidate for governor in New York—Dr. Paul L. Adams, an academic dean and history professor at Roberts Wesleyan College, Rochester.

Backers of Adams are mainly disident Republicans who regard the GOP leadership of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob K. Javits as too liberal. The Conservative party platform calls for sharp cutbacks in state spending, repeal of the state sales tax and the New York City income tax, and prayer in the public schools. There are two other minor party candidates for governor in New York—Milton Herder, nominee of the Socialist Labor party; and Judith Whitel 28, a teacher, running under the Socialist Worker banner.

Here is a rundown of some of the states with considerable minor party, independent or written-in action:

Professor Runs
IOWA — A newly formed political organization called the Iowa party has the Rev. Charles Sloca as its candidate for governor. He is an English teacher at Parsons College, also a Methodist minister; a native of Rahway, N.J., with degrees from Rutgers and Cornell.

The Rev. M. Sloca is refusing to pay his 1965 Iowa income tax, contending the state is illegally collecting double taxes. Due to a change in the withholding system, Iowans now are paying on 1964 taxes by withholding while also paying taxes on 1965 income.

As Senate candidate, the Iowa party has put up Herbert F. Hoover, who described himself as "a fourth cousin, twice removed" of the late president. Earlier this year, Hoover sought the Republican Senate nomination and got 28,725 votes in the primary to Sen. Jack Miller's 138,008.

The American Constitution party is running candidates for governor, the Senate and four House seats in Iowa. Its Senate candidate is Robert D. Dilley, 39, owner of a Des Moines plant that binds books and makes looseleaf binders. He wants to "impeach a few of those Supreme Court justices down there who refuse to adhere to the Constitution" and "repeal laws, not pass them."

Its candidate for governor is David P. Quiner, 38, a farm manager.

The national Prohibition party also has a Senate candidate in Iowa, Verne Hagens.

Peace Candidate
Finally, there is a "Peace Independents" Senate candidate, Charles H. Day, a high school science teacher, who wants to deescalate the war in Viet Nam.

KANSAS — The Prohibition party has candidates for both the Senate and governor. Roland E. Fisher is the nominee for governor and Earl F. Dodge for senator.

Running for governor as the Conservative party choice is Carson Crawford, 55, a farmer campaigning for repeal of recent state income tax increases. The party's Senate nominee is George W. Snell, 55, a Wichita aircraft company employee.

MICHIGAN — Here there also are Prohibition candidates for governor and senator. Rollin Severance and E. Harold Munn respectively. Their bids are on a write-in basis.

GEORGIA — Many moderate Democrats don't like their party's nominee for governor, segregationist Lester G. Maddox, and don't want to vote for Republican Howard Callaway. There is a write-in campaign for Ellis Arnall, former Democratic governor.

Has Good Chance
MARYLAND — An independent expected to make a strong showing for governor—some give him an outside chance of winning—is Hyman A. Pressman, 52, Baltimore comptroller and nominally a Democrat.

The Democratic nominee is George P. O'Mahoney, 64, a Baltimore contractor, whose nomination as an opponent of open housing in the primary left the party fragmented. The Republican nominee is Spiro T. Agnew, 47, Baltimore County Executive—the county administrative officer.

PENNSYLVANIA — Edward S. Swartz, an outspoken conservative, is running for governor as the Constitutional party candidate. One of his planks: Opposition to open housing.

The Republican nominee, Raymond P. Shafer, and the Democratic nominee, Milton Shapp, both support open housing.

Swartz, 56, a businessman in Hummelstown, has served in the legislature and was one of four Pennsylvania delegates to the 1964 Republican convention who supported Barry Goldwater for the presidential nomination.

He predicts he will get 500,000 votes but most independent political analysts will be surprised if he gets half that many. His candidacy could affect the outcome of a close race between the major party candidates and the Democrats think he will hurt Shafer more than Shapp.

Drew 80,000 Votes

VIRGINIA — There are conservative party candidates for both the Senate seats to be filled this year. This party appeared on the scene last year and got about 80,000 votes in the election for governor, enough so that Democratic Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr., although elected, collected less than 50 per cent of the total vote.

Its strength is chiefly in a southern tier of counties where civil rights legislation has generated strong opposition. Most of its support comes from former Democrats. The party's Senate candidates are John W. Carter, 45, a Danville attorney; and F. Lee Hawthorne, 44, an auditor in Chesterfield County adjacent to Richmond.

TEXAS — A Conservative candidate—Bard Logan—is running for governor.

The Constitution party has Tommy Gillespie as its nominee for governor and James Barker Holland as its choice for the Senate.

The views of Holland, a Houston insurance man, shed light on the attitudes of those attracted to this party.

He opposes federal aid to education, the federal school lunch program, both federal and state income taxes, and has denounced this year's civil rights bill.

Holland is not expected to draw sufficient votes to have any effect of consequence on the Senate race between Democrat

Waggoner Carr and Republican Sen. John G. Tower.

IDAHOO — Two independent candidates for governor—Perry Swisher and Philip Jungert—could affect the contest between Democrat Cecil Andrus and Republican Don Samuelson.

ALASKA — An independent bid for governor by John F. Grasse bears watching. Republican Sen. Clifford P. Case is a strong favorite for re-election, but has three independent opponents along with Democrat Warren W. Wilentz.

Will Compile History For Mental Health

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. James A. Brussel of New York City has been assigned by the State Mental Hygiene Department to "compile an extensive history of the state's endeavors in the field of mental health."

Brussel was given the assignment Sunday by Dr. Alan D. Miller, mental hygiene commissioner, who named the career employee to the new post of director of historical research, at $27,012 annually.

Brussel, who joined the department 35 years ago, has been assistant commissioner in charge of New York City services since 1952. He has written several books on mental illness.

Miss Sandra Rogden celebrated her birthday Friday.
Sunday services at the Methodist Church will be held 10:30 a. m. Sunday school for the children meets 9:30 a. m.
Sunday Masses at Sacred Heart Church will be 8, 9, 10 and 11 a. m. Holy Mass Saturday is 8 a. m. Rosary will be recited before Mass during the month of October.

Span Over Mississippi

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Warner Darnley, Tennessee highway engineer, and Ward Goodman, chief highway engineer for Arkansas, worked together 20 years ago in planning the Memphis-Arkansas Bridge across the Mississippi River. Now they are planning an Interstate 40 bridge across the Mississippi at Memphis and they say the new bridge will cost more than twice as much, $9.5 million compared with $4 million.

Over 300 Attend Demo Dinner at Capri on Saturday

In a crusading speech that brought more than 300 Ulster County Democrats to their feet in prolonged applause, United States Senator Gale William McGee of Wyoming urged Saturday night the re-election of Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick. "We need him desperately in Congress," the Senator declared.

Describing the 89th Congress as the most productive in history, the Senator said Resnick was one of its most outstanding battlers.

Didn't Hear Speech

The Congressman didn't hear the speech at the Capri 400 resort restaurant, sponsored by the Kingston Democratic Club and the Kingston Democratic Men's Club because he left early in the program to fill four other engagements. However, before he left he invited everyone there to attend an Election Day evening victory party to be held at the Granite Hotel and country club at Accord, "not at Republican headquarters in Kingston." That was reference to the "Republican headquarters" sign over the entrance to the Governor Clinton hotel which sent the fourth annual city Democratic dinner program to Port Jervis.

Senator McGee listed some of the accomplishments of Congress in which Resnick had a part. Two years ago, he said, the Medicare program was only a proposal; there was little chance for federal aid to education; there was only need for legislation in the field of polluted air and streams. Two years ago, he added, Congress took steps toward legislating human dignity and equality and started a war on poverty.

The Democrats believed, he said, there was no excuse for second-class citizens in the most opulent nation on earth. He observed that a lot of mistakes have been made but he realized that the only way to win a battle is to fight.

Called Vigorous Member

Saying Resnick is one of the most vigorous and respected members of Congress, Senator McGee added: "You have to prove that you think as much of him as we do, because we brag about Joe in Washington."

The Senator noted a self-interest factor involved in re-election of the Congressman, saying Republicans are talking about gaining 10 or 20 seats in Congress. However, he said, if that happens there still would be a Democratic president, a Democratic Senate and a Democratic House, and the more practical way to federal co-operation would be to have district Democratic representation. Senator McGee revealed that Congressman Resnick's activities in Congress have made him a prime target of a heavily-financed un-American organization.

Because of his other commitments, Congressman Resnick was moved to the top of the dinner program by Chairman John P. Heitzman and he was presented by Kingston Democratic City Committee Chairman Dr. Gerald P. Gorman.

Proud of Record

The Congressman said he had been accused of being a rubber stamp. He admitted that accusation, saying he had "rubber-stamped" every campaign pledge he made two years ago and proud of his record, would continue services he has given to the people of the district.

County and district Democratic candidates were presented by Dr. Gorman and guests by Heitzman who also presented Democratic aldermen and supervisors. Participating in the program opened by the singing of the National Anthem by Mrs. Frank C. Sass were the Rev. John V. Keating of St. Joseph's Church, Rabbi Z. Schechtman of Congregation Ahavath Israel and the Rev. John H. Frenssen of Trinity Lutheran Church.

A feature of the program was a souvenir book designed and compiled by Orrie R. Riehl. Prior to the dinner a reception for Sen. McGee and Congressman Resnick was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gorman, 159 Main Street.

Shot in Face While Hunting Near Highland

While hunting with five friends in a wooded area off Chapel Hill Road Town of Lloyd, at about 2:30 p. m. Sunday, Thomas W. Fogate, 44, of Montclair, N. J., was accidentally shot in the face.

According to an investigation by BCI Investigator Joseph Franke, Fogate was standing in the bushes when two of his friends fired at a bird. Pellets hit Fogate's face. He was treated at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, and admitted for further treatment.

It was not determined who fired the shot that wounded Fogate, according to Trooper Robert Molloy of the Kingston sub-station.

Vet Gets Rabies; Takes Honeymoon Saved by Search

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) A young veterinarian, who spent his honeymoon unknowingly infected by a rabid dog, resumed treating sick dogs and cats today.

One of his last patients, a basket bound, died the day he left on his honeymoon. Tests later confirmed the dog was rabid. But Dr. Wayne A. Endres, 24, of South Bend, was with his bride, presumably headed for Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Authorities feared it might be too late before Endres learned of his contact with the fatal disease and began a series of anti-rabies shots.

Endres said he received his first shot with less than 24 hours left of the two-week rabies incubation period. Endres and his bride, the former Paula Kutz of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, were sought from Iowa to the East Coast after authorities learned the couple planned to honeymoon at Niagara Falls. Extra lookouts were posted at border crossings between the United States and Canada.

It wasn't until the couple was returning home Saturday afternoon that an unidentified motorist flagged down their car near Noblesville, Ind., and told them the dog was rabid.

Quell Outbreak Of State Fires In Dry Woodlands

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fires that raged through more than 625 acres of dry woodland in western New York, the Finger Lakes district and the eastern Adirondacks late last week were under control today.

Two of them, on the Cattaraugus Indian Reservation southwest of Buffalo and on the southeastern shore of Canandaigua Lake, were extinguished Saturday and Sunday, respectively. Forest rangers and hundreds of volunteer firemen called to quell the flames were released from duty.

The fire left blackened about 125 acres on and near the reservation and 100 acres along the Canandaigua Lake shore.

Some burning spots still were reported at the site of a forest fire that swept through 100 acres Saturday on the northwestern rim of the Grossdal Ski Resort near Allegany.

Harold Madison, district forest ranger at Allegany, near Olean, said Conservation Department workers and volunteers were continuing to watch and control the minor outbreaks.

Also under control was a fire that burned 300 acres of woodland on Wilmington and Bassett Mountains, near Wilmington in the eastern Adirondacks.

A water-bombing plane was used to quell the flames Saturday.

Conservation officials blamed hunters for starting the Adirondack fire, which was discovered Thursday night. The cause of the other fires was not determined.

Dear Abby . . .

A Few Thoughts to Ponder Upon

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR READERS: Owing to the overwhelming number of letters I have received lambasting me for one of my replies, I repeat the item together with a sampling of the mail that followed.

DEAR ABBY: My mother was Jewish, my father was not. I married a gentile and I suppose there are many people who do not know my background, altho I've never tried to hide it. To get to the point: Recently I was a guest at a cocktail party in the home of some prominent and respected gentile people. Another guest started making small talk with me, and in casual conversation he made some very degrading remarks about "the Jews." I remained silent, but was deeply hurt. Now I'm wondering if perhaps I should have said something. And if so, what?

HURT DEAR ABBY: Bigotry and bad manners are boorish, whether perpetrated on one who is half-Jewish, or 99.44 per cent Chippewa. Unless one would reveal his own insecurity, the best response is sincere (and silent) pity rather than uttered (and futile) censure. You cannot hope to educate a bigot with one short lecture at a cocktail party.

DEAR ABBY: You've just lost your 5-star rating in our home. By remaining silent, does not one condone bigotry? I find the worst offenders are the nice, quiet people one meets socially.

I don't advocate impassioned speeches, but a quiet, rational, informed rebuttal would inform the bigot that at least one listener does not subscribe.

DEAR ABBY: If one cannot hope to educate a bigot in one short lecture at a cocktail party, one wonders why you even bother to write a column and offer advice. Better you should just read the letters people send you, and pity the ignorant authors.

The idea that you may be persuading countless people to believe that silence, which is tacit agreement, is a virtue, is appalling, especially in the light of the atrocities which have been perpetrated in the world while millions remained silent.

DEAR ABBY: Revealing one's insecurity notwithstanding, how can anyone recommend "silence" in response to anti-Semitic, anti-Catholic, anti-Negro, or anti-anything so obviously based on prejudice and bigotry? Silence can only imply apathy, cowardice or agreement.

DEAR ABBY: A wise man was asked, "When will intolerance be abolished?" He replied, "Not until the person who was NOT maligned reacts as tho he were the person who were." I cannot condone your answer with my silence—and I would have written this letter had the issue been Puerto Rican.

DEAR ABBY: Dirty Jews! Smelly Negroes! Narrow-minded Catholics! Lousy Wops! I am just getting ready for my next cocktail party since no one objects to my name calling.

Seriously, Abby, your advice on how to handle a bigot didn't sound like you. Please reconsider.

DEAR READERS: It's a weak defense, to be sure, but I recommended giving the bigot the silent treatment out of consideration for the hostess on the chance that the bigot might become loud and unruly, as bigots are apt to do. I realize now that the principle involved here is of sufficient importance to justify even a noisy scene should one have ensued. I stand corrected—thanks to those of my readers who challenged me, and thereby taught me a lesson.

Queens Liquor Probe Underway

NEW YORK (AP) — Donald S. Hostetter, chairman of the State Liquor Authority, has confirmed that an investigation is underway by the Queens County district attorney into a reported shakedown of a liquor license holder in Queens.

Hostetter said Sunday that the authority has been "aware of this (new) allegation even before" we received the application and has "cooperated with the district attorney in every way."

The authority was rocked in 1962-63 by a major scandal of the Rockefeller Administration. The new inquiry came to public notice with the publication of an article in the Sunday edition of the New York Daily News. It said that Dist. Atty. Nat H. Hentel was investigating a $5,000 shakedown attempt.

The newspaper also asserted the case involved a top member of the SLA, a city judge and several politicians. No persons were named.

Hentel has refused to talk about the reported investigation.

Rockefeller at first denied any knowledge of the matter, but later said Sunday night he recalled discussing it with Hentel.

Oil Heat Council Notes Lower Prices

Inflation-weary citizens must welcome the news that wholesale prices for home-heating oils went down in the past decade, while the trend in commodity prices continued upward.

This was the report today of the Hudson Valley Oil Heat Council, representing fuel-oil dealers in Dutchess, Ulster, Sullivan and Orange Counties.

The spokesman said the downward trend reflects figures from the period of 1957 through the first six months of 1966.

"During this period," the spokesman added, "wholesale price index of all commodities rose 6.5 per cent while the wholesale price index for the light fuel oils used for home heating decreased 9.2 per cent."

Actors Plan Strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The 17,000 members of the Screen Actors Guild are being asked to authorize a strike against advertising agencies and other producers of television commercials.

Actor Charlton Heston, guild president, told members that actors in commercials are not receiving reasonable wage increases despite what he called enormous profits being made by the television advertising business. He said the guild board of directors wanted strike authority.

Such a strike would not affect theatrical pictures and television entertainment films, a guild spokesman said.

A new guild contract is being negotiated in New York.

Another Roundup

Officers George Barringer and George Deyo reported rounding up two stray horses at 5 a. m. today on East Chester near Tammany Street. They were tied to a tree in the area until it was determined that their owner was Frank Benicase, of 87 Grant Street.

Asks for Asylum

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Former Bolivian President Hernan Siles Suazo appeared at a frontier station at the Chile-Bolivia border and asked for political asylum. The Interior Ministry announced Sunday in Santiago, Chile.

Undersecretary of the Interior Enrique Krauss said Siles will be allowed to remain in Chile as a tourist while his request is being considered.

Quite A Birthday

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Seven-year-old Gina Williams had quite a birthday Sunday in her Memphis, Tenn., hospital room. The mailman delivered at least 500 cards and Elvis Presley sent an autographed picture and an album of his records.

Also, Danny Thomas had his picture taken with her at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, where she is under treatment for a malignant tumor.

Gina was admitted to St. Jude Oct. 7. Before that she was in Medical College of Virginia Hospital in Richmond.

"This has really perked her up," said Gina's father, Eddie. "She has been so excited and she was so happy to get all the cards."

Numerous Brush Fires Reported During Weekend

The season of brush and leave fires is at hand. Over the week-end Ulster County Fire Control reported a series of fires in various areas of the county. A number of the fires apparently were set.

At 11:31 a. m. Saturday Centerville was summoned for a brush fire and Ellenville firemen were also called out Saturday for a brush fire. At 4:24 p. m. Port Ewen firemen were called for a brush fire and St. Remy and Rifton were alerted by Mutual Aid. Other brush and grass fires were recorded at Fire Control Headquarters in Kerhonkson, Walker Valley, Wawarsing, Clintonville, West Hurley and Accord.

Fire in an abandoned bungalow on Old Shaft 2-A Road called out Kerhonkson firemen at 11:52 p. m. Sunday. They secured at 1:25 a. m. today. The bungalow was situated on the road to the dump and apparently had been burning some time before an alarm was sounded. Being in the vicinity of the town dump, Chief Emanuel Samuels reported the alarm had not been given until the building was practically destroyed. Many believed the fire was at the dump.

At about 5:30 Sunday afternoon Kerhonkson firemen were called to a fire in leaves at Terrace and Church streets where a garage of Ben Borko was threatened. The garage was saved. Kerhonkson firemen were also called to a fire on Minnewaska Trail about 9:20 p. m. Sunday where brush on the Ross Addis property was on fire near the David Crystal place.

Mutual aid also reported Shandaken firemen called out Sunday for a trailer fire. Highland firemen were also summoned Sunday for a house fire.

Note Malicious Mischief

Local police were notified at 7:40 a. m. today of malicious mischief at the Ulster County Highway Department property on Quarry Street. Three windows were reported broken, apparently by youngsters who had entered the building and sprayed contents of fire extinguishers inside.

Bobby Opposes Selling of Jet Planes to Peru

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., has criticized a United States plan to sell 25 jet fighter planes to Peru as another step in an arms race involving Peru, Chile and Argentina.

And he said the United States "must act now to discontinue sales of these unnecessary arms to Latin America."

Speaking at a Democratic rally at Portland City hall Sunday, Kennedy said that purchase of the planes by Peru is "a wasteful and dangerous luxury for a nation struggling with the problems of development."

The senator said Peru wants the aircraft because "Chile its southern rival, had purchased a like number of aircraft from Great Britain," and Chile's action "was a response to our sale of 25 modern jet fighters to Argentina."

Kennedy said that if the United States does stop such arms sales, and the country persists in seeking arms elsewhere, the United States should "take account of this waste in determining the amount of our own economic aid to them."

Kennedy's Portland speech was the second stop in a quick New England tour on behalf of Democratic candidates in the Nov. 8 election.

Indict Two

dictment was returned against Willie Ed Patton, New Paltz, charged with a shooting on the Monticello farm.

Michael Edward Callahan was indicted for second and third degree assault arising out of an alleged striking of a deputy sheriff at the time President Johnson visited Ellenville.

Also named in an indictment charging burning crops and timber and endangering life and health of a child, was Harry Lowe and Robert Myers, Kingston volunteer firemen.

Other indictments returned were:

Raymond Joseph Beaudet, illegal possession of a firearm, a felony. It is alleged a sawed-off rifle was found in his car on the Thruway.

Santiago Rosa Martinez, illegal possession of a dangerous instrument as a misdemeanor.

Timothy France, grand larceny, first degree; unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Daniel Lorenzo, Gilbert and Robert Joseph Salvatore, possession of stolen property arising out of an entrance to Nurseries Arms.

Richard Ray Christensen and Edward Leroy Meade, burglary, third degree; unlawful entry and grand larceny, second degree.

Edward Deyo and Frederick Deyo, illegal possession of a dangerous instrument as a misdemeanor.

Mark K. Post and Michael Bagshaw, grand larceny and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Sam Cosby Brandon, James L. Thomas and John Douglas Pointer, illegal possession of a loaded firearm; possession of a firearm.

Alphonso Heyward, Frank Lee Peterson and James Parker Reagan, Ellenville, possession of stolen property.

Warren Ramon Davis, second degree grand larceny and unlawfully entering a building, arising out of the entrance to the Ballantine plant at Tilton.

All cases were transferred to County Court for disposition.

No Meat on Friday?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Roman Catholic hierarchy may decide next month whether to abolish the requirement for American Catholics to abstain from eating meat on Fridays.

Bishops in Mexico, France and Italy — exercising newly created power to lay down national rules for the Church — already have abolished the Friday meat ban except for Lent. Canada's bishops have eliminated the ban entirely, urging voluntary penance in its place.

The Friday abstinence is just one of the topics expected to be considered at the Nov. 14-18 conference at Catholic University. All of the 261 U.S. cardinals, archbishops, bishops and auxiliary bishops are to attend.

The purpose of the conference is to implement the sweeping changes in the Church decreed by the Vatican Council. The bishops are expected to discuss council documents and hear reports on use of English in the liturgy, on the ecumenical movement and on seminary training.

Mao Looks Strong

WASHINGTON (AP) — Miao Chen-pai, a Chinese Communist defector now living in the United States, says there is mounting resistance within Red China to Mao Tse-tung but doubts whether it will mean the collapse of Mao's regime.

Instead, he said, "after a period of time — how long, I really couldn't guess — this (resistance) might bring about a trend toward something like revisionism and changes in China."

"But so far, I really see no basis for believing internal collapse is coming," Miao said in an interview in the current issue of U.S. News & World Report.

Mao was assigned to the Chinese Embassy in Damascus where last July he asked political asylum in the United States.

Dr. C. J. O'Reilly Dies; Honored By Area Dentists

Well known Kingston dentist, Dr. Charles J. O'Reilly, 64, of 170 Albany Avenue died Sunday after a long illness.

Born in Kingston, Oct. 10, 1902, he was the son of the late William J. and Mary Leonard O'Reilly. He attended Kingston schools, Catholic University, Washington, D. C. and Columbia University, New York City. He received his Doctor of Dental Surgery degree from University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. O'Reilly was on the staff of Benedictine Hospital and Kingston Hospital courtesy staff as well as serving as dental consultant for the Ulster County Welfare Department.

Honored With Plaque

In June, 1965, Dr. O'Reilly was honored with the presentation of a testimonial plaque by the Ulster-Greene Dental Study Club of which he was a charter member. He was a past president of the Ulster County Dental Association.

Prior to his illness he was active in the community and was a member of St. Joseph's Holy Name Society, Knights of Columbus Council 275 and Fourth Degree Assembly, BPO Elks, Kingston Lodge 550 and Twaalfskill Golf Club.

Teens Arrested After Drink Party Near Ashokan

An estimated 15 carloads of teenagers reportedly gathered on property near the Ashokan Reservoir Sunday and allegedly engaged in drinking and littering by discarding empty bottles, beer cans and clothing around the lawns.

Town of Olive Constables Frank Neri Jr., George Reimter, Walter J. Lang and William Kassor participated in the arrests after complaints were received from area residents who complained of the littering and drinking by the youths.

Authorities lodged charges of littering against 13 of the teenagers, who are to appear before Justice of the Peace Frank Carle on Thursday at 4 p. m. "It is a riotous crowd, and we intend to break it up," one official said.

It was reported that some of those accused are juniors or seniors in Kingston High School, and one was described as a student at Ulster Community College.

"A week ago yesterday," an official said, "we went over where this crowd meets and picked up more than two bushels of empty beer cans and bottles, along with garments discarded by some of the crowd." Names of those accused on Sunday are being withheld by authorities.

Property Tax Exemption

A public hearing will be held by the Board of Education of Kingston School Consolidated at J. Watson Bailey Junior High School 8 p. m. Nov. 15 on the question of property tax exemption for the aged. All interested persons will be heard.

A new section of Real Property Tax Law authorizes any county, city, town, village or school district, after public hearing, to enact a local law, ordinance or resolution granting a 50 per cent exemption on real property owned by persons 65 years of age or over meeting the statutory qualifications.

The following question and answer series issued by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment is printed by The Freeman as a public service.

Property Tax Exemption (2)

Ownership Requirements

What are the ownership requirements? Title of the property for which the partial exemption is claimed must have been vested in the owner, or if there is more than one owner, in all of the owners, for at least five consecutive years prior to the date the application is filed.

How does the applicant prove ownership of the property and the length of time title has been vested in him? Proof of ownership may consist of a certified copy of the deed, mortgage or other instrument by which applicant became owner of the property. Satisfactory proof of ownership which also shows that title has been vested for at least five years prior to filing the application must be furnished.

What type of title must the applicant or applicants have?

The title to the property must be an estate in fee or a life estate. Title may be held by a guardian or committee for any person who would otherwise be entitled to claim the exemption. Interests in property which are less than a life estate, such as an estate for a term of years or a leasehold estate, do not qualify.

Another Go-Go Dancer Murdered; Find Body in Ohio

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) — Pretty Linda Marie Kohlmeier, a small town girl from a big family, left home to become a secretary — then a go-go girl.

She lost touch with her family about a month ago. They found her Sunday when her father identified her body at a morgue in Columbus. The body, clad in a dancing costume and a jacket, was found on a rural road near here at about dawn.

The girl was killed by a blow on the back of the head, according to a preliminary autopsy report. Other than that, authorities said, the death is a mystery.

She was reported missing a month ago by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kohlmeier of Beach City, Ohio, a town of just over 1,000 population about 15 miles southwest of Canton in Stark County.

Lt. Louis Napier, a Stark County sheriff's department detective, who had been working on the search for Linda, 19, said Saturday, "I knew the family well. She was one of the finest kids I've ever known."

There were 11 children in the family, including one born last week. Linda was the oldest.

Knox County Sheriff Ralph Peairs said the girl reportedly had been living in the Mount Vernon area, in central Ohio, about six weeks and had danced at night spots in Columbus and Cincinnati, and at a bar here.

Peairs said witnesses told investigators that Miss Kohlmeier left the bar here after work Saturday night, went to a party and left the party alone to return home.

Her car was found at the farm home east of here where she roomed — about two miles from where the body was found.

Is a dwelling which is owned by the applicant but located on leased land or land owned by the applicant subject to the exemption?

The dwelling is subject to exemption only if it is separately assessed to the applicant.

Is a trailer or mobile home located on leased lands or lands not owned by the applicant subject to the exemption? Yes, Section 102, subdivision 12 (g) of the Real Property Tax Law requires the separate assessment to the owner of any trailer or mobile home which is entitled to any exemption from taxation.

Would an otherwise qualified owner in possession of property under an executory contract of sale be entitled to the exemption?

Yes, but, of course, such owner must meet the five year ownership requirement.

Can the exemption be granted on property held in the name of a corporation which is wholly owned by the applicants?

No. The corporation is a separate entity and ownership by the corporation is not ownership by a natural person for exemption purposes even though it is wholly owned by such person.

May a cooperative apartment qualify for exemption? No. The title to a cooperative apartment is held by a corporation. See 7 above.

May a condominium apartment qualify for exemption? Yes. Provided title to the apartment is held by the applicant.

How may the title to property be owned by more than one person be held?

Title may be held as a tenancy in common, joint tenancy, tenancy by the entirety or any other form of joint or common ownership.

If the property has been owned by a husband and wife as tenants by the entirety for more than five years but the wife is under 65 years of age, will the property qualify for exemption upon conveyance of her interest to her husband?

No. The reason for the five year requirement is to discourage changes in ownership of the property made solely to qualify for the tax exemption. The property would qualify in the sixth year after the conveyance. The same reasoning would apply where property is owned jointly by, say, a father who is over 65 and son who is under 65. A conveyance by the son would not satisfy the requirement that title has been vested in the father for five years — only a part of the title has been vested for that period of time.

Indians to Ask For Atomic Pact

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — India was expected to react to Communist China's latest atomic weapon test with a speech at the U.N. today urging all the nuclear powers to sign a treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons. The Chinese presumably will reject the appeal if they don't ignore it.

V.C. Trivedi, the Indian representative on the Geneva disarmament committee, was scheduled to explain his government's position in the U.N. General Assembly's main political committee.

The basic Indian position has been that there should be a treaty against the spread of nuclear weapons; that it should involve a balance of obligations between nuclear and non-nuclear countries; that all nuclear powers should adhere to it, and that it should be linked with a freeze on stocks of weapons.

Wheels, Tires Stolen

Theft of car wheels and tires in two places in the town of Woodstock was reported to the sheriff's office Sunday. Richard Bird of 9 Arnold Drive, Woodstock, reported at 9:15 a. m. that a wheel and spare tire had been taken from his station wagon. Mrs. R. Durand of 18 Park Drive also reported a wheel and spare tire taken. Deputy Sheriff J. Walsh, who investigated, reported the premises adjoining.

Waiting Wives Club, New Idea In GI's Housing

By BOB HORTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The women have formed a "waiting wives" club while the men are away. They take turns babysitting for one another. Town and a hairdresser are nearby. Elementary school is just around the corner.
A cozy suburb? Almost. Actually, it's a military housing experiment that could lead to the conversion of some deactivated bases into bustling communities of wives and children.
The name is Schilling Manor. Population: 3,100, including 2-500 children. It's on a portion of

Men in Viet
Now, use of the base's housing is getting a favorable once over as a new approach to assuring living quarters for families of servicemen ordered to such isolated duty areas as Viet Nam.
At Schilling Manor, servicemen's families are guaranteed housing the entire period their "sponsors" — the menfolk — are serving out one-year overseas.
"This housing is especially for what we call 'short-fuse' guys who have to go pretty fast without much time to arrange something for their wives," a spokesman said.

The military services routinely accommodate such families wanting or needing government quarters by assigning them excess housing on a what's-available basis at various installations. But people assigned to those bases naturally get first choice.
After 10 months, Schilling Manor's success seems assured. The project will be continued at least through 1968, a spokesman said.
Whether to open other housing at deactivated bases is being considered. Army studies are under way to determine what future housing needs will be.

More than 600 wives from all over the country have chosen Schilling Manor, near Salina, Kan., over "going home to mama," the defense spokesman said.
Officials expect the 730 homes — two, three and four-bedroom houses — to be filled by the end of the year.
The project is open to families of all services but the Army is more or less in charge of the operation.
The rent ranges from $135 a month to $205, depending on a man's rank. It amounts to forfeiture of his separation pay and housing allowance.

Find Correggio $500,000 Painting In Garbage Can

CHICAGO (AP) — An anonymous telephone caller with the voice of a frightened teen-ager directed police Sunday night to a trash basket containing a stolen $500,000 painting. The caller said the theft of the Renaissance painting, "Madonna and Child with St. John" by Correggio, was a prank that got out of hand.
The painting was found in a trash basket in lakefront Grant Park, about a quarter of a mile down Michigan Avenue from the Art Institute of Chicago.
The richly colored work, on a wooden panel, taken from the Art Institute early Sunday morning.

Charles C. Cunningham, director of the institute, said the 16th-century Italian masterpiece suffered moderate, but repairable, damage. After it was purchased last year it was described as the institute's most important acquisition in more than 60 years.
Girl, 9, Killed; Playing Under Leaves
BELLPORT, N.Y. (AP) — Rebecca Lynn Wagner, 9, was run over by a car and killed Sunday while she was playing under a pile of leaves near her home, police said.
The Wagner family lives at 56 South Howells Point Road.

The break in the case came shortly before 6 p.m. when the anonymous caller told both the police and Art Institute personnel where to find the painting.
Lt. Stanley Bazarek, 44, driving alone in a squad car when he heard the radio call, said he found the painting "in the first can I looked at, about 30 feet off the street."
Police were uncertain how the burglar got into the institute, which until now had gone without a major art theft. However, they believe he left the building by breaking a second-story window, dropping the painting 20 feet to a roof, then jumping 14 feet to an air-conditioning duct and then 6 feet to the roof.

Race for High Turnout
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Election Commissioner Robert W. Northrup of Rochester has issued a challenge by his office to the challenge by his office in the Nov. 8 elections.
"We'll take them easily," Northrup said confidently Friday night after the Douglass County (Omaha) election commissioner, Jerry Hassett, predicted that his city would take the prize.
Rochester was the nation's leading city in voter turnout two years ago, when 92.86 per cent of its registered voters went to the polls. Omaha ranked 12th with 88.05 per cent.
Hassett has been conducting a registration drive since that time, however, leading to his optimism.

New York's Gubernatorial Battle; Will the Real Underdog Stand Up?

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA)—Gov. Nelson Rockefeller today has far more than a fighting chance to win a third term—and that is a minor miracle.

For his greatly brightened prospects, the governor can thank the clashing ambitions of two other men: Frank D. O'Connor, an old-style Democratic organization type who seeks escape from the grubby confines of city county politics, and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who is in a last-gasp effort to follow his famous father's trail to high office.

Roosevelt is the key. If he gets the 15 to 17 per cent vote polls presently give him on the Liberal Party line, he may surpass 800,000 and do O'Connor in. Most of Roosevelt's votes would come off O'Connor, from normally Democratic Jewish, Negro and Puerto Rican voters.

One other important assist comes to Rockefeller from his adversaries. O'Connor is a non-sparkle candidate whose organization is badly divided three ways. Even the helping hand President Johnson gave him provided only limited push for a lagging campaign.

Without Roosevelt's expected pull and O'Connor's deficiencies, Nelson Rockefeller almost surely would be headed for a crashing defeat. Polls taken from last winter until midsummer were so bad the figures were not shown even privately to newsmen.

"Nelson was 5 to 10 degrees below zero," says one aide.

The striking thing is that, even before the Roosevelt entry, Rockefeller and his veteran crew were refusing to give up.

They set about mounting a campaign organization designed to pull the governor up from nowhere.

"This is the best organized campaign I've ever seen," says a respected professional close to Rockefeller's camp. "Everything has been done. All we have to do is carry it out."

New area commanders, tied tight to State Republican Chairman William Pfeiffer, were introduced to ride herd on a somewhat dispirited and, at some points, a reluctant statewide party structure.

In New York City, the governor's managers improved on last year's new campaign wrinkle — Mayor John Lindsay's use of storefront headquarters to put a "working presence" in every sector.

Rockefeller has some 40 of these, but has gone beyond to rely upon 10 racy little mobile units which dash wherever the action is, stirring up crowds for the governor or chasing voters. Superficial organization is not all that emerged from the long, sleepless nights suffered last spring by GOP managers.

After a little canvass among themselves on the question of who likes what among television commercials, they settled on Jack Tinker and Partners to prepare the literature and sell Rocky's record on radio and television.

The television spots this firm produced have the whole state talking—and O'Connor's forces muttering darkly. They are funny, freshly turned, altogether devoid of political deadlines.

Bombarding voters since July, these short shots more than anything else have given Rocky's campaign the aspect of the "new politics," which stresses quality output of propaganda founded on thoroughly analyzed depth polls of voter interest and attitude.

Significantly, Rockefeller's face and voice have no place in these highly effective presentations. The judgment is that his personal public image is tarnished — a combination of his divorce and remarriage, his various tax increases, the attacks on his liberalism by party and other conservatives.

Yet, while his managers assume the old Rockefeller aura is gone, he campaigns personally with much of the arm-clamping, winking and smiling zest he brought to his 1958 and 1962 races.

His candor disarms listeners. If groans greet an answer: "I guess I didn't do too well on that one."

As he struggles uphill, patiently explaining that rising school and other needs compelled his tax hikes, Rockefeller somehow seems a figure of faded yet still impressive political valor. Even his enemies concede he has class.

O'Connor thus far matches neither the man nor the organization. Starting with a Democratic paper advantage of a million voter registrants, he is having trouble holding his strength.

His own close advisers, who really run the show, have insufficient statewide campaign experience. His key helpers, State Chairman John Burns and Stephen Smith, top man in Sen. Robert Kennedy's New York set-up, are not in places of real authority. And they do not govern the vital ingredient, money.

On walking tours through New York City boroughs, O'Connor comes across as friendly and personable—but unexciting. He complains of Rockefeller's money and Roosevelt's famous name. A reform Democrat comments biting-ly that O'Connor looks more like a district attorney, which he was, than a governor.

Strapped for funds, puzzled over his failure to click, the Democratic nominee has turned to lashing out hard at his two adversaries in an effort to pull them down.

An unabashed hatchet job is under way on Roosevelt, who has proven a knowledgeable and quite attractive third party campaigner. Roosevelt's spotty past record is getting full treatment.

One respected Democratic observer believes that in late-hour desperation O'Connor's forces will toss mud on Rockefeller as well, with constant behind-the-hand reminders of his marital troubles. The O'Connor camp charges the governing is spending a colossal $20 million on his campaign, and tries to dramatize the claim by loading up a truck with paper supposedly equal to that sum.

Bobby Kennedy's push for O'Connor in the final fortnight might provide the missing spark for him, and draw back the many, many thousands now leaning to the maverick Roosevelt. Unless all signs mislead, O'Connor needs the biggest blitz Kennedy can mount.

But if he brings it off, it probably will be a near thing. For it is Rockefeller, the battered underdog, who is running the big race. O'Connor, the easy favorite, still has to find the winning pace.

Hudson Will Get $72,938 to Train Jobless Persons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seven New York State projects are included in an $8.9-million federal plan to train 3,568 unemployed or partly employed persons in 19 states.

The Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare approved Saturday these project locations, number of trainees and federal funds:

Dunkirk, 24, $70,006; Putnam Valley, 60, $169,642; Glens Falls, 35, $119,924; Hudson, 20, $72,938; Oswego, 34, $80,962; Syracuse, 300, $1,903,875; and Watertown, 37, $115,411.

Note Christmas Club Savings Are Higher Than Ever

Over 10,000 banks and savings institutions are busy preparing to mail checks totaling nearly two billion dollars for some 15 million members of America's largest club—Christmas Club.

The exact amount is $1,882,890,000, an average of $125.00 for each member—the highest ever recorded. This represents an increase of nearly 50 per cent since 1950 when the average club was just $85.00 per member.

As the incomes of Americans have grown, so have their Christmas savings and Christmas Club a Corporation, the organization that originated the plan, reveals some interesting figures about the people who make up this large group of savers.

While their average saving is about $2.50 per week, some two and a half million save as much as $5 weekly and an additional 1,350,000 members put away $10 a week or more.

The Christmas Club disbursement is timed to fit the habits of America's gift buyers. A recent survey shows that 55 per cent of these customers will start their gift buying before Thanksgiving. Another study—pleasing to retailers shows that $715,500,000 (or 38 per cent of these Christmas Club savings will be spent for Christmas gifts. 000,000, or 31 per cent, will go And equally pleasing to the right back into savings. banks will be the fact that $584. All in all, the Club that we need if most.

"IT'LL BE A MIRACLE IF ERIC LINDBLOOM GETS ELECTED TO CONGRESS . . ."

Maybe so. Perhaps that's just what it'll take—a miracle. Most Americans, we guess, aren't really aware of what's happening in Viet Nam. The American lives being wasted . . . children being burned by napalm . . . the mindless escalation . . . the illegality of our position there. But a great portion of the rest of the world is aware, and is watching us in horror. A few people here, too, are aware, and they believe in miracles. Do you? Well then, why not help one happen?

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Monday, Halloween, Oct. 31, the 304th day of 1966. There are 61 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1517, Martin Luther nailed his 95 theses against the doctrine of indulgences on the chapel door at Wittenberg, Germany.

On this date: In 1674, Dutch forces evacuated New York City.
In 1754, a royal charter was granted to King's College, known today as Columbia.
In 1864, Nevada was admitted to the Union as the 36th state.

In 1942, the Nazi Luftwaffe bombed the business district of the historic English city of Canterbury.
In 1943, the Moscow conference of foreign ministers ended with a declaration calling for the establishment of a general international organization to maintain peace and security.

Ten years ago: Despite a protest from President Eisenhower, both Britain and France intervened in the hot Israeli-Egyptian dispute in the Middle East.

Five years ago — Soviet Premier Khrushchev proposed a memorial be built in Moscow to commemorate the victims of the Stalin purges. Khrushchev spoke at the final session of the 22nd Soviet Communist party congress in the Soviet capital.

One year ago — Reports from South Viet Nam had it that incorrect map directions from South Vietnamese ground troops sent two U.S. warplanes into an attack on a friendly village in which 48 civilians were killed.

Wrong Garage

EAST PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Frederick C. Noyes was out driving recently when he noticed that a three-car garage was missing from property owned by his wife.

A police investigation disclosed that a wrecking firm hired to tear down another three-car garage had made a mistake.

LBJ's Pennsy Remarks Are Used in Gubernatorial Bid

By HARRY W. BALL

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) —

President Johnson paid a non-political visit to Republican Pennsylvania one fine September day in 1966.

What he said in his nonpolitical speech has been making political grist in Pennsylvania's gubernatorial campaign ever since.

Friendly Setting

The setting was friendly. The community of Dallastown — population 3,600 — was celebrating its centennial and thousands had gathered to commemorate the day.

On the bunting-draped platform was Republican Gov. William W. Scranton, warmly welcoming the President.

In such hospitable surroundings, it was understandable that a distinguished guest should be moved to an accolade. The President was so moved.

A Leader for Years

Pennsylvanians have a lot to be proud of. You have been a leader throughout this nation in the field of education. You've been a leader for many years and have produced some of the greatest leaders in America in the field of conservation. You've been a leader in preserving our American heritage in this country. You've been a leader in protecting the beauty of our land," Johnson said.

When the Republican party's platform appeared a short while later Page 8 was a deadpan presentation of the Democratic President's panegyric.

The Democrats' elder statesman, David L. Lawrence, 77, hurried to Washington to set matters straight.

Call GOP A "Fraud"

Lawrence announced he had talked it over at the White House and was authorized to say the Republicans "have committed a great fraud on the president of the United States."

The President, said Lawrence, definitely did not have in mind this "Madison Avenue crowd running things in Pennsylvania today."

The incident epitomizes the gubernatorial campaign. The reaction of the voters: extreme apathy.

The contestants are:

Republican Lt. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, Yale classmate of Scranton. Scranton is ineligible by law to succeed himself. Shafer, 49, son of a Protestant minister, was a torpedo boat commander in World War II. He started in politics as district attorney of his native Crawford County.

Shapp 'Phenomenal' Success

Milton J. Shapp, 54, a Philadelphia who turned to politics after phenomenal success in business. He won the Democratic nomination by defeating the organization-endorsed candidate — the first time such a thing has happened in either party for the office of governor.

Edward S. Swartz, 56, businessman and former legislator who was a Barry Goldwater delegate to the 1964 Republican National Convention, where Scranton sought the presidential nomination. He's running on the Conservative Constitutional party ticket.

George S. Taylor of Philadelphia, Socialist Labor candidate, a perennial who polled only 14,340 votes out of 4,378,042 cast in the 1962 gubernatorial election.

Gubernatorial Top Race

The race for governor dominates the campaign, but both major parties have laid much emphasis on the 27 congressional seats and the 253 seats in the legislature which are at stake in the Nov. 8 election.

Democrats hold 15 of the congressional seats but Republicans are confident of whittling that to 13.

Plus and minus factors in the governor's race are about evenly divided.

Schafer has Scranton's active-campaign help, plus endorsements by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and most of the state's newspapers, and a favorable showing in the polls.

On the debit side, votes for Swartz are expected to be mostly at the expense of Shafer.

Shapp has a smooth, efficient organization, practically unlimited financing, and a plus on the voter registration books — 2,759,324 Democrats to 2,678,934 Republicans.

There are many kinds of banks with many kinds of bankbooks, but...

In our book you and your home come first.

Unlike commercial banks, which exist primarily for business, Savings Banks are concerned — season in, season out — exclusively with people. With you, your family, your home.

That is what makes Savings Banks different. It's what makes a Savings Bank bankbook unique.

Your Savings Bank bankbook stands for an unusual combination of benefits: unsurpassed safety... and consistently higher interest-dividends than other bankbooks, through good years and bad. No wonder more people in New York State save in Savings Banks than in all other banking institutions.

And billions of dollars saved in Savings Banks are invested every year in homes... through Savings Bank mortgages and Savings Bank home improvement loans. In New York State, Savings Banks lend more money for homes than all other banks, savings associations and insurance companies combined.

More than 4 million people in New York State live in homes built or bought with Savings Bank mortgage money. An important contribution to our state's Grow-Power.

Whatever the season, in our book you and your home come first. Savings Banks are different, and the difference is all in your favor.

Saigon Mother Shot by Yanks;

By JOHN NANCE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A young Vietnamese mother lay crying in a Saigon street one day last spring, clutching a wound inflicted by the bullet of a U.S. military policeman.

Five months later, 23-year-old Nguyen Thi Thom appeared before a government paymaster, fatalistically pocketed $58 and limped home.

Act of Fate
She was "not happy" about the size of the payment, she said. "But I am not sad either." She regarded getting caught in the shooting as "my fate" and her husband agreed.

Mrs. Thom's ordeal, from the rain-soaked dawn of May 10 when she was shot to the morning this month when the paymaster handed her the money, illustrates the plight and frustrations of innocents in a war that has hit so many of them.

Cong Bomb Explodes
Mrs. Thom mother of two children and pregnant with her third, was struck in the hair-trigger reaction of U.S. sentries and MPs to the explosion of a Viet Cong mine near the Brink U.S. officers' quarters.

The U.S. soldiers believed — erroneously, a U.S. Army spokesman later explained — that they were under fire from terrorists. Seven Vietnamese were killed and more than a score of others wounded in the incident.

The U.S. Embassy expressed sympathy to the victims and their families. Compensation was pledged.

Gives Birth

Mrs. Thom, hit in the hip, lay on the street a half hour before she was taken to a hospital in great pain, worrying about her

City Library Lists New Books

The following popular-fiction books were received this week at the Kingston Public Library.

Davies, L. P. Who Is Lewis Pinder. An amnesiac stirs memories of people buried and they would kill to keep themselves buried.

Gann, Ernest. In The Company Of Eagles. Paul Chamay seeks to avenge his wingmate's death at the hands of a German ace while parachuting to earth from his crippled World War I plane.

Harvester, Simon. Shadows In A Hidden Land. Disguised as Mongolian nomads, British Agent Giles Priest and his 10 refugee charges seek to escape across the gruelling stretches of Outer Mongolia only to find treachery from within their midst.

Knebel, Fletcher. The Zinzin Road. Some Peace Corps Americans take sides in a local issue which explodes into an international affair extending from West Africa to Washington.

Longstreet, Stephen. Pedlock

& Sons. New blood emerging in the Pedlock department store results in proxy fights and a startling chase behind the Iron Curtain.

Mason, F. V. Wild Horizon. Increasing tension along the eastern U.S. seaboard in 1779 and 1780 is the basis for this account of the conflict between the patriots and Tories during the Revolution.

Norton, Anthony. "Baron and Moguls Swords." John Manning, burglar turned antique dealer, becomes entangled in the dangerous complexities of great wealth and he tries to track down the missing mate of a famed Mogul Victory Sword.

Renault, Mary. The Mask of Apollo. A fourth century B.C. Greek actor treads through the war-weary, self-seeking world of his time, from Plato's Athens to despotism Syracuse.

Ullman, James. The Venus Trap. A boy's loyalty to his father, accused of being a diamond

Atlanta Face Lifting

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Plans for a $200-million project to include hotels, convention and recreation facilities on an 18-acre tract near the state Capitol at Augusta have been announced by Gov. Carl E. Sanders and Raymond D. Nasher, a developer from Dallas, Tex.

Waltari, Mika. The Roman. The Roman in the person of Minutius joins with Nero whose bloodlust eventually repels him and as he is executed he feels the Christian God watching over him.

West, Jessamyn. A Matter of Time. Persuaded to take part in a plan to kill her cancer-ridden sister for mercy, the emotional conflicts of Tassie Orsino are portrayed as memories which result in tragedy, fear, courage and hatred.

Seek Leads in Death Of Partially Crippled

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Police looked for leads today in a laboratory report on the death of a partially crippled, 45-year-old woman, whose beaten body was found Saturday.

She was Mrs. Charlotte Rowlands of Utica, a former polio victim, who was discovered in a shed at the rear of an apartment building, where friends of hers lived.

Police said the cause of death was not immediately determined. They said, however, that Mrs. Rowlands may have died elsewhere and then been taken to the shed.

BOSTON (AP) — Boston City Hospital will increase its room rates $10 a day effective Dec. 1. Charges for ward patients will be $42 daily, semiprivate rooms go to $47 and private rooms to $52.

Visit Trainable Class

Recently Miss Eleanor Putnam and Mrs. Mary Commerford, teachers of trainable children in the Rome City School System, and William Staley, principal of the school which houses the trainable program, spent a day visiting the Kingston City School's Trainable Program which is in operation at the Emma Wygant School.

The three members of the Rome School System were advised by the State Department of Education to visit our Trainable Program, for it is the opinion of this department that it is a very outstanding program in the state.

How South Plays Difficult Slam

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
These are South's thoughts as he bids and plays today's hand.

"This is a pretty good hand. Seventeen high card points and a good six-card heart suit. Wrong distribution for an opening no-trump so I'll bid a heart . . . West has bid a spade and my partner two clubs. Must make a strong rebid. Better try three hearts . . . Now my partner bids five hearts. He wants me to go to six if I can take the second spade. Six hearts it is. . .

Here comes the opening lead. The jack of diamonds! West must be sitting back with the ace of spades over my king and I have to do something about my king-small of spades. I can discard one spade on a diamond and try to locate the queen of clubs. That is a 50 per cent chance. Of course I guess more often than I misguess but is there a better line of play? Sure, there is. I had better discard a club on dummy's third diamond and ruff out the queen of clubs. I had better win the diamond in my own hand and play a couple of trumps. I will leave the ten in dummy as a trump entry . . .

West has discarded the nine of spades. As if I didn't know he held the ace! Can he hold four clubs? Not likely at all. If he has, he is going to beat me because I am not going to play against that possibility. I will play dummy's high diamonds and discard a club . . . So far so good. Now for king and ace of clubs . . .

"Everyone has followed on two rounds of clubs. The queen is the only club left. I can ruff it out, get back to dummy with the ten of trumps and discard my two spades on the last two clubs.

"Nice bidding, partner!"

Tells of 007 Diamond Worth Over $2-Million

RICHARDSON, Tex. (AP) — A fabulous diamond called the 007, and a South American general's aborted political power play are part of a story told by a Texas pilot who mysteriously fled a Brazilian prison with two American companions.

Joseph A. Truhill, 47, of the Dallas suburb of Richardson, said that he and Joseph McCutcheon, 36, and Sam Sexton Jr., 41, both of Fort Smith, Ark., were convicted on smuggling charges trumped up by Gen. Rio Grandino Kruei, former chief of Brazil's federal security police.

"We were framed on charges in which Gen. Kruei wanted to make a name for himself," Truhill said Sunday at a news conference. "He wanted control of the mining industries and the customs offices."

The three Americans appeared at the U.S. Customs station in Brownsville, Tex., Saturday after nearly nine months of detention at Brasilia, capital city of Brazil.

Truhill would not discuss details of the escape, saying only that it was engineered by the three prisoners and Mrs. Truhill, a trim, brunette pilot who once trained in vain to become a woman astronaut.

Brazilian authorities said the prisoners fled after being allowed to visit Brasilia last Thursday.

Expect Westinghouse Walkout at Midnight

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Federal mediators sought a last-minute compromise today to avert a strike of 14,000 Westinghouse electric workers.

With no compromise or agreement, the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers could pull its members off the job at 46 plants on the expiration of its contract at midnight tonight.

Talks broke down Sunday and mediators hurriedly arranged a meeting of both sides this afternoon.

The IBEW contends Westinghouse is offering less than what it granted three other unions in settlements reached in the last 10 days. The union also said the offer was less than the recent General Electric settlement.

However, the IBEW said the offer was the same as the one accepted by the other three unions with respect to wages, vacations, holidays, pensions and cost-of-living provisions. The unions said the package was worth about 50 cents an hour in wages and fringe benefits over three years.

Rocky Advises Credit

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State lending institutions had before them today an appeal from Gov. Rockefeller to "assign top priority to the credit needs" of businessmen, homeowners, consumers and local governments within the state.

The governor's office said Sunday Rockefeller had written to the institutions on recommendation of his Cabinet Committee on Credit in an effort to cope with current "money situation."

Guinea Detains Envoy, Another As Retaliation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government of Guinea held newly arrived American Ambassador Robinson McIlvaine under house arrest today despite strong U. S. protests.

The State Department said McIlvaine and an unidentified Pan American Airways official were detained Sunday in apparent retaliation for the arrest in Ghana Saturday of a 19-member delegation from Guinea which included the foreign minister.

Guinea Radio repeatedly said the United States was responsible for the arrests in Ghana. But Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach told the Guinea charge d'affaires in Washington Sunday that neither the U. S. government nor Pan American Airways "had any responsibility whatsoever for the incident" in Accra, the Ghanaian capital.

Boards Must Act

P-TA Planning Sessions On Reading, Visual Aids, Etc.

Woodstock P-TA plans an extremely active year; has already presented several interesting programs.

At its annual Open House, P-TA offered parents an opportunity to meet principal Walter Van Wagenen and all teachers in the school, to visit the school and classrooms and to greet new officers and committee chairmen of the organization. This first meeting for the 1966-67 school year proved highly successful. P-TA Faculty Books were distributed at the session and those who missed the meeting may pick up these informative booklets by attending the Nov. 1 meeting. The books are invaluable for keeping parents posted on all dates, teachers and people connected with the local school. In addition, the Nov. 1 meeting will offer a fine speaker, Dr. R. Sawyer, New Paltz professor, speaking on the subject of "Reading."

Mrs. William Eichhorn, new P-TA president, has urged everyone to continue supporting the organization which hopes to strengthen the bond between teachers, parents and children. This year's program is intended to be a vital and stimulating one with mutual interest for both teachers and parents in mind.

Program Announced

The remainder of the program for the year, following the reading lecture by Professor Sawyer on Nov. 1, includes:

Nov. 7-10—Annual Book Fair.
Nov. 19—Lazy Eye Clinic to diagnose amblyopia in pre-schoolers, with Mrs. Penny Earnest, Health chairman, in charge.

Dec. 6—Woodstock teacher, Frank Hancock, will speak on "Visual Aids," a large project with great scope, and on the library program.

Jan. 27—traditional P-TA card party and fashion show.

Feb. 7—program on "Sex," to explore questions on how much of this subject should be taught in school and whether children are being reached soon enough, with speaker to be announced.

March 7—talk on "The Exceptional Child," by Mr. F. Falanga, of the Board of Cooperative Services, New Paltz.

April 11—Gene Malkis, of Ontario High School, will show slides on India. Also, in April, P-TA plans to set a date for a bowling party.

May 15—program on Educational TV, newest topic in the area and in use in the Woodstock School at the present time.

This meeting will be combined with the regular school board meeting for the month, with program presented by Dr. George Sullivan, Ontario District superintendent of schools.

June 6—the annual dinner will end the P-TA year. Installation of officers will take place and the Jenkins Award will be presented.

Lists Objects

The president, Mrs. Eichhorn, said this week that, as usual the objects of P-TA will be to bring into closer relation the home and the school; to secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth; to promote the welfare of children and youth in the home, schools, church and community; to develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, social and spiritual education.

It is the goal of P-TA, she said, to follow through with its objects and present teachers and parents with the program for the year. She noted that the year actually started with a room mothers and teachers tea in late September, with chairman Cathy Marynowski in charge of organ-

12 GS Troops Active Here

Girl Scouts in the Woodstock and West Hurley Neighborhood are in the full swing of fall activities. A campfire songfest was enjoyed recently by many Scouts and their families with singing led by the Senior Scout Troop and girls of individual troops lending their talents. This was followed on Columbus Day by a nature hike in Lake Hill, arranged by Mrs. Robert Rittenburg. Girls from seven troops joined in this event.

The Neighborhood Service Team has been able to organize 12 troops in three levels of Girl Scouting. In Woodstock, Brownie Troop 82 is led by Mrs. George Kittner and Mrs. Louise Smith; meets at the Woodstock Reformed Church. Brownie Troop 184, led by Mrs. Mimi Ashby and Mrs. Margo Balmer, meets at the Fellowship Hall of Christ Lutheran Church. Junior Troop 96 is under the leadership of Mrs. Paul Wasser and meets at the Woodstock School. Junior Troop 90 will be in charge of Miss Janice Hornbecker and will meet at the American Legion Hall.

In West Hurley, Brownie Troop 89, led by Mrs. John Blatter, and Brownie Troop 183, led by Mrs. Peter Sammons and Mrs. Ronald Every, meets at the West Hurley School. Brownie Troop 182, led by Mrs. Charles Ringard and Mrs. Gerald Kreiburg, meets at the West Hurley Firehouse as does Junior Troop 141, led by Mrs. Paul Fusaro and Mrs. Kenneth Knickmeyer. Three Junior Troops also meet at the West Hurley School: Troop 79, Mrs. Watson Goodrich and Mrs. Richard Bradley; Troop 84, Mrs. Gunther Zoenfeld; and Troop 176, Mrs. John Frangello.

All Cadettes in the Neighborhood belong to Troop 173 which meets at the Glenford Firehouse on Friday evenings with Mrs. Charles Orr and Mrs. Donald Rice as leaders. Senior Scouts belong to the District troop which meets at the home of Mrs. Pat DiSalvo in Woodstock.

Several leaders attended the Leaders Training Course given by the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, of which the Woodstock-West Hurley Neighborhood is a member. The leaders meet once a month at the West Hurley Firehouse for a business meeting and workshops. The next meeting will be held Nov. 29 at 12 noon.

izing the affair. She also mentioned the excellent Bike Safety Program presented in three parts earlier this fall, which included a talk by State Trooper Carl Van Wagenen at the school in September; tests on what children should know about bikes and bike laws, administered by Andrew Shekita, physical education teacher; and a Bike Roundup at Bruley Meadows, an afternoon of fun and interest to all, arranged by chairman William Malloy.

Housewives Plan Blitz in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A group of women called "Housewives for Lower Food Prices" will turn to blitz-type demonstrations at Buffalo area food stores in the coming weeks to achieve their goals, an organization leader says.

Mrs. Armand P. Herreras of suburban Williamsville said Sunday the picketing of a Williams-ville supermarket Saturday for six hours was "highly successful," but that the owner had been given too much warning. Despite the owner's comment that "business was normal," shoppers did turn away after seeing the pickets, which ranged in number from 25 to 75 during the day, Mrs. Herreras said.

To Give No Warning

Some regular patrons were able to shop either before or after the demonstration because they knew when it would occur, she added. In the future, the group hopes not to give too much warning to store operators, Mrs. Herreras said.

Since the picketing, Mrs. Herreras said she has been asked by many area housewives to show them how to start similar movements.

The group hopes to not only achieve lower prices, she said, but to establish a Consumers' Council that "would be like a branch of the Better Business Bureau."

Serve As Lobby

The council would serve as a housewives lobby and as an agency that could receive complaints, press for investigations and make recommendations to the food industry concerning prices, she added.

Mrs. Herreras said the original name of her group, "Women on the Warpath," sounded too "radical" and that its 75 active members decided it would prefer to be known as "Housewives for Lower Food Prices." The local women are considering a proposal to join the national organization of protesting housewives that originated in Denver, Colo.

Mrs. Herreras said her group plans to demonstrate against the high price of some food item this week.

A choice of the item and the names of other stores to be boycotted will be determined after a tally of housewives' suggestions was completed. Women were asked during Saturday's demonstration to list what they thought were high priced items and stores, Mrs. Herreras said. A "grievance box" was made available for their suggestions.

you can rent
a car from the Ford Dealer right in Kingston!

We call this new service Ford Rent-A-Car. It's inexpensive. It's quick and convenient. It's operated by a Ford Dealer in your area. Being close to where you live, close to where you work, means we can put you in the Ford car of your choice faster than anyone else around. Just stop in and see us.

Who can use Ford Rent-A-Car? Ford Rent-A-Car is for everybody. It's for wives whose husbands take the family car out of town on business. It's for families who have to be in two places at the same time. It's for the businessman who needs a car right away. It's for you whenever you need an extra car—for an hour, a day, or a week.

How does Ford Rent-A-Car work? Like a charm. All you need is a telephone, a driver's license and the desire to go somewhere. To get a Ford Rent-A-Car, just stop in to see us or give us a call. Tell us what kind of Ford you want and when you want to pick it up. We'll do all the rest.

What kind of cars? 1967 Falcons, Fairlanes, Fords, Mustangs and Thunderbirds. And you can have practically any model you want—convertible, hardtop, sedan or wagon.

How much for Ford Rent-A-Car? Naturally, prices vary somewhat from model to model. (For instance, you'll pay less for a Falcon than a Thunderbird.) But all of them are surprisingly low. What's more, you can rent a car for as little or as long as you need it. Need a car for just an hour or two? You can have one for practically peanuts!

Can you charge? Sure thing. If you already have an account with us, you can come in, rent one of our cars, and say "charge it." If you don't have an account, it's a simple matter to open one up. Drop in any time and we'll be happy to take care of it.

How about insurance? It's all taken care of. The rental price you pay includes complete insurance coverage—collision, liability, fire, theft, the works. You drive our cars without a worry in the world.

Can you use a car today? Stop in, pick out a factory-fresh Ford and step on the gas. It'll be in top condition—serviced by the men who know Fords best.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

It is really surprising how interested folks are in preserving the Perrine Bridge over the Wallkill River, between Rifton and Rosendale, built in 1850 and still standing. It so happens that on Oct. 20, 1953, they spoke of repairing it at the cost of $20,000. Now suddenly they upped the price $100,000 making it $120,000 to repair it. The structure is 138 feet and I am sure with concrete corner built on each side with four such corners and two cables under it, and something to hold the arch inside could be built by the proper contractors for a reasonable sum of perhaps even under $20,000. Tom Whitman, our city engineer in Kingston, who worked for the famous bridge builder the late Mr. Steinman for some 10 years could certainly give some advice. Anyway I am going to ask

Mr. Whitman the next time I see him.
I read about Mrs. Vera H. Wagner, organizer of the Theodore Burr Covered Bridge Society of Pennsylvania, Inc. Harrisburg, Pa. They have some 500 members. They were putting up two metal signs at each covered bridge in Pennsylvania, at their own expense, directing the traveling public to their bridges. This was the society's contribution to our guest. They also sell covered bridge items, note-paper, plates, towels, calendars, post cards to raise money to use for their work in saving covered bridges. They also petition officials to aid them in this work in their state and other states, so perhaps they can now help the Perrine Bridge, at least with advice. I think women could do a great deal by forming a group to push this saving of the Perrine Bridge as they are the consumers, taxpayers and voters, and to them the politicians bow politely. My neighbor, Mrs. Dominick La Torre saves me a little booklet called, The Washington Line who put out various rust preventatives and other oils and chemicals, with offices at 303 West Lehigh Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa. Their booklet often has illustrations of trolley-cars and they print many interesting photographs on covered bridges sent in by readers. They have been doing it since June, 1956 and now they ask the editor to write a book on covered bridges. They say they have no intention of putting out a book on covered bridges but are glad to use photographs of them and bits of historic information, perhaps someone from the Perrine Bridge section will send a good picture with a story on it to them for national coverage and perhaps world-wide interest. Their line of products goes back to 1865, and Houghton's product is called "Cosmoline" original can of which is dated 1871 and picture is in book. It was sold for medical uses then. I guess every soldier knows "Cosmoline" as I think when their guns go overseas this product covers them from getting rusty.

The September 1966 issue has covered bridges from West Virginia. A twin-passage covered Philippi bridge, scene of the first land battle of the Civil War, is shown, built by Lemuel Chenoweth in 1852. It still is in service. They show another one at Mud River at Milton, where also a Civil War skirmish took place. In this case the Union forces "maintained" the bridge. This looks like our Perrine Bridge. These photographs were sent in by J. W. Price, terminal agent at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in Wheeling, West Virginia. There is no reason why our Perrine Bridge cannot carry some traffic after being repaired as these West Virginia bridges do and they were built at the same time, but were maintained.

Actor's Guild Acts Quickly in Fleming Death

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The recent drowning of Eric Fleming on a film location in Peru has prompted the Screen Actors Guild to express concern for the safety of its 17,000 members.

This month the Guild's board of directors called on industry leaders for a full-scale investigation of the increasing number of production accidents involving actors. While commending the industry's Labor-Management Safety Committee, the board stated:

Fall Obligations

"A number of producers and directors and other management personnel are not carrying out their obligations to insure the safety of persons working before the camera in action shots. Failure to use an adequate number of doubles and stunt men and necessary equipment is responsible for far too many accidents involving motion picture players." President Charlton Heston detailed the Guild's concern in an interview. He is an actor well acquainted with the perils of action scenes, having survived everything from broadsword battles — "El Cid" — to chariot races — "Ben-Hur".

Heston cited Fleming's death as an example of how actors can be placed in jeopardy by inadequate protection. Fleming, onetime star of "Rawhide" on television, drowned in a boat upset in a Peruvian river while on location of "High Jungle." The film was to be a two-hour feature made by MGM for the ABC network.

Happened During Filming
"Our preliminary investigation indicates the accident took place during the filming of a scene," said Heston. "Apparently there was no rigging to prevent the boat from capsizing. There were no flotation devices in the boat for the actors, who had heavy boots on. There was no other boat in the river for a pickup, no ropes or poles on the shore."

Fleming was swept into the raging river when his canoe overturned Sept. 28; his body was recovered three days later 15 miles downstream. Another Hollywood actor, Nico Minardos, survived the accident.

"We can't remove all the hazards from action filming. But the Guild wants to make sure enough precautions are being taken," Heston said.

KERHONKSON NEWS

Federated Church

KERHONKSON—Sunday, Oct. 23, the congregation of the Federated Church heard the message, Requirements for Peace, brought by the Rev. Billy G. Vestal.

The youth fellowship met at 7 p. m. in the Fellowship Hall with advisors, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schwab.

The Women's Society's annual turkey dinner and bazaar was a success.

Thursday evenings the senior choir meets for rehearsal in the sanctuary at 7:30 p. m. Junior choir, grades 3 through 6, meets after school at 3:15 p. m. in the sanctuary on Fridays. Intermediate choir meets at 4 p. m. Fridays.

Sunday School classes for all ages are in session from 9:40 to 10:40 a. m. Adult Bible study class meets at the same time. Sunday worship service is held at 11 a. m. This week's sermon topic is What's Wrong With Protestantism?

The Women's Society will hold its next regular meeting Wednesday, Nov. 2, at 1 p. m. Roll call Bible verses should contain the word service or serving. Mrs. Henry Bendell is in charge of devotions. Hostesses for the social hour are Mrs. John Coombs, Mrs. Theron Terwilliger and Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins. All women of the Kerhonkson area may attend.

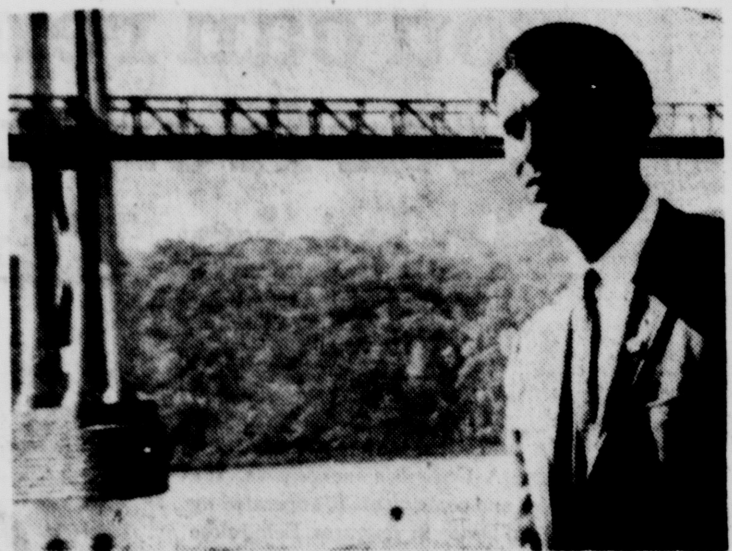

The teachers and officers of the Sunday school met recently for regular monthly meeting. The Christmas program committee presented plans for an unusual and interesting Christmas program. It is hoped that anyone who is asked to be of assistance for this program will not hesitate to do so. A committee for the Mission Festival, which will be held in the spring, was set up. It is hoped that teachers and students will have sufficient time to get plans organized and in action.

Camels have been so thoroughly domesticated that no wild camels exist today.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION ISSUE #3

CONSERVATION

GLENN VAN BRAMER cares about preserving our natural resources. A former Scout master and noted wildlife photographer, he will fight for our forest lands and rivers at the Convention.

"Conservation is more than the protection of our wilderness lands. It is the embodiment of a basic principle in our Constitution to guarantee our children the beauty and value that nature gave us.

"I will fight to preserve our 'forever wild' woodlands from those who don't understand its value to future generations.

"I will also point out that a policy of the State should be to maintain our man made historical monuments. Our history and heritage is too important to ignore."

township this year, Williams said.

Estimated revenues will include $97,283 per capita state aid and returns from motor vehicle fees; $16,000 from mortgage taxes, and $30,700 from other income such as dog licenses, other fees and insurance refunds.

The Town of Saugerties again will not need to levy taxes for the cost of town government, Williams said. The increased per capita state aid is due to the Special Census which noted a large increase in town population.

However, $88,500 must be raised by taxes for the operation of the town highway department. Last year's figure was $106,500. Increases under the general fund include $16,500 for cost of elections, an increase of $5,500 due to the six extra registration days mandated by the state. Insurance costs were also higher this year, Williams said.

The salary of the town clerk was increased $1,000 to $6,000 per year and the town superintendent of highways salary was upped $500 to $6,000 per year. Another reason for the higher figure under general government was the necessity of placing the highway superintendent's salary under the general fund rather than under the highway department. This is also mandated by the state for the coming year. All other salaries remained the same as last year.

Public Safety at $12,000 also showed an increase of $200. Welfare costs total $3,800 and bonded indebtedness $12,000 plus $128.40 interest.

The highway department budget includes the following:

Item I — General repairs, materials, supplies, social security and hospitalization insurance, and employee salaries, except the department head, $51,000. State aid for highways cut the full amount $9,000. There are no items under Highway Item II.

Item III — Repair of machinery, purchase of same, tool and equipment, $19,000.

Item IV — Snow removal ($12,708) and cutting shrubs and weeds also highways and miscellaneous, $18,500, for a total highway appropriation of $88,500 to be raised by taxation.

No Loss of Services

Supervisor Williams pointed out that the $18,000 savings on highway was accomplished with no loss of services.

Basic tax rates for previous years include 1966—$65.72; 1965—$65.21.

The next tax rate will not be known until county charges are allocated and added to the general fund appropriation.

Winners Named For Halloween Window Painters

Art Students from Kingston High, Immaculate Conception, and St. Mary's Schools were designated winners in the fourth annual Halloween window painting contest sponsored by the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association.

Division Awards

First place in the Senior High Division was awarded to Kathy Kearney, 186 Main Street, and Cheryl Jonescu, 103 Clinton Avenue, for the window they painted at Glynn's Shoes, 295 Wall Street. Both girls are seniors at Kingston High School. The painting received 109 out of a possible 120 points as scored by the three judges on composition, rendering, originality and color.

In the Junior High Division, top place went to David Post, 24 Second Avenue; Francis Albertini, 14 Wynkoop Place, and William Scaddi, St. Remy, who worked together on a window at Burgevin's Inc., florist, at Main and Fair Streets. They are eighth grade students at the Immaculate Conception School. Their painting scored 96 points.

In the Elementary School Division, first place was awarded to Frank Bailey, 25 Brewster Street; Laurie Celuch, 94 East Chester Street, and Barbara Joy, 62 East Chester Street, for a painting on London's Youth Center, North Front Street, which received a rating of 85 points. The winners are sixth grade students at St. Mary's School.

Junior Competition Keen

Competition was keenest in the junior high division, where honorable mention was accorded a painting at Elston's Sport Shop, 269 Fair Street, which rated just one point behind the winner. The artists were George Brown, 87 TenBroeck Avenue; Irv Brown, 27 Clarendon Avenue; and Albert Leonard, 33 Furnace Street, ninth grade students at the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School.

Honorable mention in the senior high group went to a painting at Schneiders Jewelers, 290 Wall Street, by Gail Drolet, Route 4; Della Fisher, R.D. 3 and Linda Cooper, Port Ewen, students at Kingston High School.

In the Elementary Division, honorable mention was won by Eddie Ellsworth, Elizabeth Wenzel and Geraldine Kouhoup, all of Port Ewen and all students at the Port Ewen School, for a window at Wonderly's, 314 Wall Street.

The first place winners in each of the three divisions will receive individual awards and a plaque will be presented to their schools by the Uptown Business Men's Association, which also provided free of charge the water soluble paints used by all contestants.

Judges were Mrs. Burton S. Davis, Warren Simmons and Harry M. Thayer. A total of 223 students participated.

Agriculture in the U. S. produces more than $30,000,000,000 worth of products annually.

Report Ulster

Camp Weatuck was reportedly the site of a two-week Communist indoctrination course this summer and was reported under surveillance by the Federal Bureau of Investigation at that time.

Hentel said the camps were slated for destruction Sunday, a few days after the start of the hunting season.

Six Seized at Diner

Six of the men, all dressed in hunting garb, were seized in a Queens diner. Officers said guns, ammunition and bombs were found in the car of one of them. Another man was arrested in his Katonah, Westchester County home.

Hentel charged the men with conspiracy to commit arson and most received additional charges of violation of the anti-weapons law and unlawful assembly.

During an investigation which began last January, police said they learned the following about the Minutemen:

That they tried to infiltrate the Army Reserve's 11th Special Forces — the "Green Berets" — at Miller Field, Staten Island, to learn guerrilla tactics.

That members of the group distributed racist literature in Queens, purporting to be from Negro extremists and urging Negroes to "kill white devils."

Robert B. DePugh of Norborne, Mo., who established the Minutemen six years ago, was not available for comment. DePugh also is national chairman of the newly organized Patriotic party.

Membership in the Minutemen has been estimated from a few thousand to 100,000.

Start Petitions

some action is approved to pre-removal of the building, the structure must be moved from the state-owned property along Route 9W, south of the existing bridge traffic circle.

According to reports, Mrs. Starin has offered to give the house to the community if it can be preserved on its present site. It was learned that Gov. Rockefeller has ordered demolition delayed until at least Dec. 1.

The Lion's Club has passed a resolution asking Gov. Rockefeller to save the building and community leaders are asking residents to write letters to the governor urging his backing in the drive.

Kenneth Hasbrouck, New Paltz historian, Jedd Reiser, chairman of the Historical Buildings Committee of the New York Chapter, American Institute of Architects, and William Van Benschoten, historian, architect and member of the Ulster County Planning Board, reportedly are supporting the movement.

7 Firemen

piece of pipe hit helmet; Robert Priest, injured right hand.

Volunteers: Fred Crantz, Rapid leg injury from nozzle; James Cunningham, Cords, left knee injury; Lawrence Bibando, Union, cut hand, and Wayne Platte, Union, left knee injury. Crantz and Cunningham were hospitalized.

Firemen were at the scene some three hours.

Questions Remain In Sheppard Trial

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two questions remain to be answered before preliminaries are concluded in the murder trial of Samuel H. Sheppard, which resumes today after a weekend recess.

One question is whether the jury of eight men and four women selected last week will be locked up each night during the trial.

Common Pleas Court Judge Francis J. Tally must also decide if the trial will proceed at all — or if it will be moved outside Cleveland as requested by defense attorneys.

Attorney F. Lee Bailey, Sheppard's chief counsel, contends that a fair trial is impossible because of the extensive news coverage the case has been given. Prejudicial news coverage was one of the factors cited by the federal courts in granting Sheppard a new trial in the 1954 slaying of his first wife, Marilyn.

Two Million

that knows what it means to have help in resisting that aggression.

A huge cheer echoed over the square.

South Korean President Chung Hee Park, who has sent 4,500 troops to Viet Nam, had waiting a variety of requests for aid, including $300 million for development projects, a guarantee of at least $200 million a year to support the South Korean army, and more orders for South Korean manufacturers to supply the forces in Viet Nam.

The vast outpouring of Koreans came as Johnson entered the last stage of his 17-day, 31,000-mile journey around the eastern rim of Communist China. He leaves for Washington Wednesday, stopping en route for nearly 12 hours in Anchorage, Alaska.

He flew to Korea from Kuala Lumpur, capital of Malaysia, where he voiced a new warning to Communist China, the old foe of Korean War days. He said the Chinese Reds were inviting danger by development of nuclear-tipped missiles. He promised that the United States would offer protection against nuclear blackmail to nations that forego development of their own nuclear weapons.

His Malaysia stay was marked by anti-American riots in which one person was killed. But South Korea, when the United States expanded blood and money to resist Communist expansion a decade and a half ago, gave the President a completely enthusiastic welcome.

Johnson will spend 44 hours in Korea. He will visit with South Korean and American troops guarding the armistice line against the Communist North, talk with President Park and other leaders and attend a busy round of social events.

The President, although tired on the homeward leg of his energetic travels, will get little respite in Washington. Well informed sources said he would leave the White House again Friday on a 12-state campaign tour in advance of the Nov. 8 elections. Then he is expected to combine rest and work at his Texas ranch for a week or longer.

Swamp Buggies Must Fight Mud In Florida Race

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — Once a year almost everyone gets to play in the mud in Naples' own international swamp buggy championship, one of the world's most unusual sports events.

Star of the event is the swamp buggy — born of the hunter's need to get around in the soggy Everglades and one of the weirdest mechanical contraptions ever put together by man. They consist of jetliner-size wheels hunk on a small frame, powered by powerful engines.

But no two swamp buggies are alike since they are made of junkyard parts and anything else the low-budget designers can lay hand on.

The first contests were held in the swamps. Now the annual race takes place on the "mud of mud," a figure eight of brown gook that ranges from two to eight feet deep, so the vehicles must be snorkel equipped.

One around the track is a race, and top speed is about 20 miles an hour.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Industrials declined in a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

Glamor stocks were down fairly sharply. The trend was lower among airlines, electronics, office equipments, photography stocks, steels, motors and nonferrous metals.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 3.84 at 804.02.

The action followed three weeks of a strong recovery move. Analysts expected that the list would consolidate its gain, perhaps making a test of its latest low.

General Dynamics was up 2 after rising on a block of 24,500 shares.

Rails still appeared to be affected by their agreement to raise freight rates. Fractional gains were made by many of the carriers.

Among the glamor stocks, Polaroid lost about 3, Xerox 2, IBM and Zenith about a point each.

Mayor Proposes Office Changes

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan today revealed he has proposed to the Common Council, which meets Tuesday night, changes affecting city offices and consideration of a plan to provide more parking space near the City Hall.

He wrote: "I order to provide better service to the community, I recommend the following:

Move city court to the Auditorium in the area of the stage.

Move the water department to space now occupied by city court so a drive-in window can be installed in the rear of the building.

Corporation Counsel and Civil Service Board can use space now occupied by Water Department.

I am planning parking space in the rear of City Hall on city property in the rear of the Central Hudson building on East O'Reilly Street, adjacent to railroad tracks, for parking of 40 cars.

"Will you please appoint a committee of five members to discuss this with the mayor's office and city clerk."

ence along the lower Esopus would be "uneconomic."

Assemblyman Wilson pointed out that the entire area along the lower Esopus, particularly in the Town of Ulster, has experienced an extremely rapid rate of growth during the past few years, and that many new private and commercial buildings have been constructed in the area since the major floods of 10 years ago. Because of this, the Assemblyman said, there is even a greater need for the proposed flood control project, and added that such measures would aid future expansion of the area.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor & Analyst

Consolidated Edison Still A Good Stock to Hold

Q) "Last February I bought 100 Consolidated Edison at 46½. How come a solid stock like this — no speculation involved — dropped to the low 30s? Shall I sell it?"—N. M.

A) My advice is to hold this solid investment issue. Its price decline resulted from several adverse — but temporary — circumstances. First, there was the flight of capital from the utilities when higher money rates attracted it toward other investment media. Then, for the first time in four years, the company reported lower earnings for 12 months ended June 30, from $2.42 to $2.27 a share, largely due to increased general taxes. Company estimates full year earnings for 1966 will at least equal the $2.42 for 1965.

In 1967 it is hoped that the company's request of last July for state approval of certain rate changes may go into effect. Originally an increase in electric rates and a decrease in gas rates were scheduled for October 1. If approved, these changes would have lifted to about 6.3 per cent the company's return on invested capital. Objections were voiced in some quarters and hence New York's PSC postponed a decision pending further study of Con

Ed's operations. New York energy requirements continue to grow so company plans to spend $1.1 billion on new facilities through 1970. Current dividend appears secure, a large proportion of which should remain tax-exempt for 1966.

Q) "I hold Korvette at 14½. Will Spartans pay a dividend to Korvette stockholders?"—J. P.

A) From detail released covering this large-scale merger, there is no indication of such a dividend. To date the plans call for Korvette shareholders to retain their stock, awaiting the final disposition of both Spartans and Korvette's assets in conformity with FTC requirements. A single integrated operation is the goal—not the direction — of parallel chains. Ultimately your shares may be considered for exchange but meanwhile the complexities of reorganization have obviously dictated the policy of simply holding Korvette shares.

UNICEF Funds

1 Washington Avenue
Kingston, N. Y.
October 28th, 1966
Editor, The Freeman

In answer to Mr. DeKeyserling's letter published October 27th, in the Kingston Daily Freeman I would like to make the following comments.

Mr. DeKeyserling's reasoning is still obscure to me. I stated that the U.S. gave the preponderance of funds to U.N.I.C.E.F. He stated that in 1965 the U.S. contributed only 40% of the funds. I, appears to me that if only 2 nations were contributing to U.N.C.E.F. than the other would be giving the larger amount. But considering that the United States is only one of many nations giving to UNICEF than 40 per cent of the total if given by one nation is in ratio a preponderance. Definition of the word preponderance: 2: Chief; most important, as given in the Thorndike-Baynard Dictionary ergo—contrary to Mr. DeKeyserling the United States does give a preponderance.

Governments have provided on the average an equivalent of $2.50 in matching funds for every $1.00 allocated by UNICEF. Who figures the equivalent? Where do these poor, starving,

Communist newspapers endorse UNICEF, such as the People's World. This west coast communist newspaper ran articles praising UNICEF and condemning its opponents.

The basic issue is this, can a government charity such as UNICEF provide the needed help. The theory of the Communists is that a government operation is best. I know that a private charity dollar goes a lot further than a UNICEF political dollar. Total UNICEF expenditures for the year 1961 were $24,499,860. And UNICEF had 575 employees. Here is an example of private charity: Catholic Relief Services distributed $125,000,000 (5 times as much as UNICEF) with a staff of 130.

Very truly yours,

Hints from Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

What can you do with leftover ham after you are sick of baked ham, fried ham and ham sandwiches?

I try to save any way I can, and always find it cheaper to buy and cook big hams.

Mother

Never keep ham too long. When you get near this point, get out that meat grinder.

Also your sharpest paring knife.

Naturally you can't get pretty slices any more, down near the bone of the ham, so cut all the nice chunks you can—removing all the fat.

Put these chunks in a fruit jar and tightly cap it, or in a plastic bag, and freeze them.

Then grind all those small pieces of ham through your meat grinder. I always use the largest grinder blade for this.

DON'T add anything else. Jars or plastic bags are dillies for putting the ground-up parts in to store in the freezer.

Later, this is delicious for making ham salad (wonderful for lunches), or ham croquettes. The greatest part about it all is that you can take a spoon and remove ANY amount of the frozen ham that you want for that day. It doesn't stick together like most frozen foods.

The chips or small chunks can be used in scrambled eggs, soups, and salads (especially macaroni—either hot or cold).

The bones can be boiled for soup. If you don't eat soup, let the liquid boil down and save it for making gravy. Lush.

Love,
Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I use a strip of elastic instead of ties on my baby's bibs. Just sew the ends to each side of the neck band, making it rather loose so it will go over the baby's head.

No more fiddling with knots

Shiela D. H. Pierce

Dear Heloise:

I am 10 years old and take instrument practice.

I was polishing my flute (with silver polish) and discovered that you can use cotton swabs for cleaning those hard-to-get-at places.

It works beautifully.

Karen Root

Dear Heloise:

I've always worn rubber gloves for wet household chores, but one day I wore them when dusting.

Since then that job has been so much less disagreeable.

At the finish, wash off the gloves. Your hands are still nice and clean and free from grit, dirt, and oil.

It's worth trying.

G. G. Kelley

Dear Heloise:

I noticed in your column that you like incense.

Have you tried what I do to make double use of it?

I get several boxes of my favorite scent at a time. Then I open each box one-third of an inch and put them under my slips or right in among the piles of underwear.

My garments have such a delightful aroma when I put them on.

Little Ida

I hadn't tried that one, but I just opened a box and set it in our linen closet.

Thanks, Ida.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here's another use for gallon plastic bleach jugs.

Wash and dry thoroughly, then fill with powdered laundry detergent, using a funnel to simplify the job.

Now you have a handle on your detergent and a cap (no more spilling if it tips over in the car).

Pat Blake

MRS. WILLIAM J. WILLIAMS

Kime-Williams Nuptials Are Announced

Miss Dolores Ann Kime, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kime of Glasco, wed William J. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Williams of Kingston on Saturday, Oct. 15, 1966 at 11 a. m. in St. Joseph's Church, Glasco. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Father Thomas. Patrick Buonfiglio was organist and traditional wedding selections were sung by Lucille Sasso.

Snowdrift pompons and ivy decorated the church for the occasion and the family pews were marked with satin ribbon.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace in princess fashion with a long detachable train of matching lace. She wore a double crown of seed pearls to which was shirred a bouffant veil of silk illusion and she carried a traditional white bridal bouquet.

Miss Julia Pietramale was maid of honor in a full length gown of lace and peau de soie in autumn gold. Her matching headpiece held a short tulle veil and she carried a bouquet of green pompons.

Serving as attendants were Miss Nancy Saulpaugh of Glasco; Miss Cathy Williams, Kingston, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Connie Castiglione of Fishkill, cousin of the bride; and Miss Marcia Macorille, Coeymans. Their gowns of moss green were identical in style to that of the honor attendant and they carried yellow pompons.

Donna Swart of New Jersey, cousin of the bride, was flower girl in a moss green gown with a wide panel of peau de soie at the back. She wore a crown of tiny flowers in her hair and carried a basket of yellow pompons.

James Williams, Kingston, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Joseph Kime and Frank Kime, Glasco, brothers of the bride; Thomas Davis, Kingston and Gary Swanson, Kingston.

Ringbearer was Frank Cashara of Glasco, cousin of the bride.

A reception was given at the Highlands Sportsmen's Club. For her wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, the bride wore a beige two piece suit with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams will reside in Kingston.

Grosso-Dingman Nuptials Are Announced

Miss Cheryl Anne Grosso, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grosso of Cloverleaf Motel, Saugerties, exchanged marriage vows with Thomas Charles Dingman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Dingman of 55 West Pierpont Street, Kingston, on October 22 at 3 p. m. during a nuptial mass in St. Mary's Church, Kingston. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Charles Koerber of Mount St. Alphonsus Seminary.

White mums decorated the church for the occasion and the family pews were marked with white ribbon.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a slim bell skirted sheath gown with a bouffant detachable train. The silk illusion veil was shirred to a stylized headpiece of alencon lace and aurore crystals. She carried a prayer book with two white gardenias and dedicated a bouquet of white carnations at the altar of the Blessed Mother.

Mary Gavigan of 7 Montross Street, Saugerties, served as maid of honor with attendants Mrs. Robert Grosso, Mt. Airy Rd., Saugerties, sister-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Peter Coffey, 126 Hurley Avenue, Kingston, and Marjorie Dingman of 55 West Pierpont Street, Kingston, sister of the bridegroom.

All were gowned alike in Calypso pink crepe gowns with crescent waistlines and floating wattleau panels. They wore circlet headpieces with tulle flirtation veils. The maid of honor carried pink and white snowdrift pompons with white ribbon while the attendants carried pink snowdrift, pompons, and pink ribbon.

Robert Dingman of Colonial Gardens, Kingston, served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Michael Dingman of Elmendorf Street, Kingston, brother of the bridegroom; Vincent Dingman Jr., O'Neill Street, Kingston, brother of the bridegroom; and Leslie Nickerson, Holiday Lane, Kingston, cousin of the bridegroom.

A reception for 175 guests was given at The Flamingo Restaurant in Saugerties.

The bride was graduated from Saugerties High School and Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing. She is on the staff of the Benedictine. Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, is employed by Continental Casualty Company as an insurance agent.

Mr. and Mrs. Dingman will be at home at 176 Highland Avenue, Kingston, N. Y.

Cullen. A dance for the benefit of the library has been scheduled for November 5th. It will be given in the school auditorium at 159 Broadway and is sponsored by the Mothers' Society. Johnny Knapp and his orchestra will provide music for dancing and tickets will be available at the door. The library will be open the night of the dance for public inspection. ## The Right Thing To Do

By Elizabeth L. Post

GRAPEVINE HINTS FAMILY FRIEND WAS HURT BY NEW MOTHER'S REBUFF

Dear Mrs. Post: A month after our baby was born, a friend of my husband telephoned me he would come to see the baby "as soon as we were settled." Since I wasn't feeling very well, I told him I wasn't up to seeing visitors yet. He said that he and his wife would come later. Now I have heard through the grapevine that they will not call until we tell him we are ready for visitors. I feel he should inquire if we are ready to receive them — Mrs. J. V.

Dear Mrs. J. V.: This sort of "I won't speak to him until he speaks to me" business is an awful waste of time! Undoubtedly your friend feels he shouldn't offer to visit again until he hears from you, having been asked to delay once, so why don't you just call, or ask your husband to tell him you're feeling fine now and would love to see him and his wife any time?

Mine Not to Reason Why, But How

Dear Mrs. Post: A 15-year-old girl recently asked you if it is rude to smoke without inhaling, and you asked why she should want to start ruining her health at such an early age. I ask you, why should she want to ruin her health at any age? Why don't you be sensible and tell women that they should not smoke at all then, you would be encouraging young girls to smoke or ordering men to light cigarettes for them. You women have no common sense at all. If you did, you wouldn't smoke. — "Smokeless"

Dear "Smokeless": Whether or not people decide to take up smoking is a matter for them to decide, with their physicians or their consciences. It is not my job so say "yes" or "no" as to whether they should smoke or not, but it is my job to tell them how to do it in the nicest, least objectionable, possible way.

WARMEST INTRODUCTIONS: Always Best

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the proper way for a daughter-in-law to introduce her mother-in-law? — Mrs. S. F.

Dear Mrs. S. F.: It's warmer to introduce parents-in-law by saying, "This is my mother-in-law," or "I'd like you to meet my father-in-law," than to say, "This is Mrs. (or Mr.) Jones." It isn't necessary for you to add the last name since it is the same as yours, but if your husband were introducing your mother, he would say, "my mother-in-law, Mrs. Smith."

What is your most puzzling

As all mothers know the all-time favorite, commonly called "hamburger" can be one of the greatest food-budget-stretchers known to man. But when Mom goes to the meat counter what type of ground meat should she buy for the family's favorite dish, be it meat loaf, Swedish meat balls, or deluxe hamburgers. Ready wrapped packages marked hamburger, ground beef, ground chuck, or ground round may be some of her choices.

To be a truly penny-wise shopper and understand the label it is a good idea to know a little about ground meat in general. With the exception of ground round or sirloin, it is generally made from less tender and/or less popular cuts of beef. This does not mean however that ground meat is any less wholesome or nutritious. Federal regulations and in some cases state laws set a limit on the maximum amount of fat that the butcher may include in products he labels hamburger or ground beef, when it is sold as federal or state inspected meat.

Now in the case of hamburger, it can contain up to 30 per cent fat. Some of this 30 per cent may be fat in addition to that ordinarily attached to the meat being ground. It can not however contain extenders such as non-fat dry milk, soybean products, cereals, water, etc. and still be labeled "hamburger."

It is true that regular "ground beef" may also contain up to 30 per cent fat, but retailers frequently limit it to 20 to 25 per cent since only fat which is normally in the meat can be used. Additional fat or other extenders can not be added to ground beef. This accounts for hamburgers that shrink or fry away in the cooking. It is quality difference that helps to justify a slightly higher price per pound charged for ground beef.

Hamburger and ground beef are made from the less tender cuts such as neck meat, and such stew cuts as plate, brisket, flank, shank and trimmings from roasts. This type of ground beef is just grand in many Italian and Mexican specialty dishes.

Ground chuck is meat from the shoulder area of the animal. The chuck is a more popular cut and so it usually commands a higher price per pound. It is slightly leaner with 15 to 25 per cent fat, therefore, shrinks less in cooking. Because of this, this type of ground beef is especially good for the all American favorites — at least for the teenagers — hamburger patties served with some or all of the usual trimmings.

Ground round is just what its name implies — ground up round steak. Because ground round contains about 11 per cent fat it may be a good choice for those who need to count calories or cut down on fat intake. For some folks ground round patties are a bit on the dry side and they prefer it for meat balls, special meat sauces, or tempting casseroles.

New Mixed Chorus Being Organized

Local residents now have a chance to do some group singing under the direction of William S. Carman at the Saugerties High School. The chorus is part of the Adult Education program in Saugerties and detailed information may be obtained by contacting the school.

It has been announced that special musical knowledge is not required. There is a small registration fee for the 10 week session.

ROBERT MERRILL

Robert Merrill Coming to Kingston;
Will Sing Nov. 2 for Community Concerts

One of America's best loved music personalities, Robert Merrill, will appear at the Community Theatre Wednesday, Nov. 2 to open the 1966-67 series of concerts of the local Community Concert Association.

The debonair baritone is the brilliant star of the Metropolitan Opera. Possibly no other artist in the history of the Metropolitan has enjoyed such nationwide fame for he has won fans not only in opera but in motion pictures, television and radio.

Mr. Merrill decided upon a musical career while still in his teens. When he was 14, his mother took him to hear a performance of "Il Trovatore" at the Metropolitan. He was so impressed with the singing of the leading baritone, that he decided he would take voice lessons. He studied with Samuel Margolis, who is still his teacher. In his late teens, he traveled the Borscht Circuit as a singer and straight man to such comedians as Jan Murray, Danny Kaye and Red Skelton.

It wasn't until 1945 that Mr. Merrill entered the operatic field. He entered and won the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air. Shortly after, he signed a contract with the Metropolitan. He also was contracted to record for RCA Victor, and in addition, appeared as the star of its coast-to-coast radio program on NBC.

The following year, Toscanini selected him to sing the role of the elder Germont in the NBC Symphony's new historic broadcast of "Traviata."

Merrill rose to fame rapidly at the Metropolitan. He began with leading roles and has always enjoyed the position of top baritone. Noted for his versatility, he has played such diverse roles as Escamillo in "Carmen," Figaro in "The Barber of Seville," Rigoletto, Tomio in "Pagliacci," Rodrigo in "Don Carlo," Count di Luna in "Il Trovatore" and many others.

He has had so many American commitments that it wasn't until 1961 that Mr. Merrill made his European debut. Since that time he has returned regularly to Europe, particularly Italy, where many of his recordings were made.

The Merrill recordings cover a wide range of albums of "Carmen" to "Porgy and Bess," "Pagliacci" to "Show Boat," "La Boheme" to "Kismet." In addition to RCA he records for Columbia and London Records.

Mr. Merrill has sung for Presidents Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower, and in January 1964, was a special guest at the first State Dinner given by President and Mrs. Johnson in honor of Italy's President Antonio Segni.

The noted singer is married to the former Marion Machno, a concert pianist and graduate of Juilliard. She often accompanies him in his recital appearances. The couple have two children, both of whom have made their operatic debut in the Metropolitan production of "Turandot."

New Members Here
For Wives' Group

The Y-Wives of the YWCA met Thursday, Oct. 20, for initiation of new members. Hostesses for the evening were the Meses. Donald Boyce, Albert DiBernardo, and Ronald O'Neill. The Meses. George Ford, Murray Frucht, Burton Giles, Peter Incalcaterra, Vincent Ippolito, Herbert Morehouse, Raymond Peterson, and Richard Smith were welcomed into the club with an evening of fun and games planned by Mrs. Frederick Burnett, entertainment chairman.

A short business meeting was held prior to initiation. Mrs. Carl B. Nordstrom, president, announced that Mrs. Vernon Outwater is chairman of the Christmas dinner to be held December 1st.

It was decided to help again with the program at the Children's Library. Members of the club will present five programs at the library during the month of March.

Mrs. Alfred Port has been named chairman for the "Festival of Christmas Ideas." This annual display of package decorations, centerpiece arrangements, wall hangings, cards, candles, is arranged by all YWCA members. It will be held on Dec. 3 in the afternoon at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue. It is held early in the month to enable guests to copy any of the decorations for display in their own homes at Christmas. The public is invited.

Plans for a fall dance were discussed. Mrs. E. Ronald Rifenburg and Mrs. George Ford, co-chairmen, will announce time and place at the Nov. 3 meeting.

On Nov. 3, Edwin Dwyer, regional underwriting manager from Allstate Insurance Co., White Plains, will present a program called "Teenage Patterns." Mr. Dwyer's lecture-slide program will demonstrate how a teenager's driving habits affect his whole life. Members are urged to be at the meeting at 8 p. m. because Mr. Dwyer's lecture will be held first.

The YWCA is a member of the Ulster County Community Chest. DD shrdlu taoinmfwp aoina

Prospective Bride
Of Joseph O'Leary

NANCY H. JASPER

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Jasper of Tilton, N. Y., announce the engagement of their granddaughter Nancy Helen Jasper of Scarsdale, N. Y., to Joseph Edward O'Leary of New York City. Mr. O'Leary is the son of Mrs. John O'Leary and the late Mr. O'Leary.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the School of the Holy Child in Rye, N. Y., and Rosemont College, Pennsylvania. She is employed by the Bowery Savings Bank in New York.

Mr. O'Leary is an alumnus of the Augustinian Academy in Staten Island, N. Y., and of Villanova University. He attends Fordham University School of Law and is employed by the Eastman Kodak Company in New York.

Keator, Closi Nuptials Are Announced Here

Miss Gayle Elizabeth Keator, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Keator of 1 Merilina Avenue, Kingston, and Robert Peter Closi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Closi of West Palm Beach, Fla., took their marriage vows Sunday, Oct. 23, 1966 at 2 p. m. in St. Joseph's Church. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. John Mulligan. James Sweeney was organist.

White gladioli decorated the main altar for the occasion and the bride carried a bouquet of white carnations at the altar of the Blessed Mother.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie in princess style with an empire bodice. The skirt was decorated with lace medallions and her bouffant veil was shirred to a jeweled coronet headpiece. She carried a cascade of white carnations with a center corsage.

Mrs. William Tilton of Newburgh was matron of honor for her cousin. She wore a full length ruby velvet gown in empire style, a matching crown and short veil, and carried a cascade of Bettertime snowdrift pompons with white pompons and ivy.

Mrs. Carol Keath of Con-sackie, N. Y., and Mrs. Donald Heins of Saugerties, were the attendants. Their gowns and flowers were identical to that worn by the bride.

Donald Heins of Saugerties was best man. Ushering were Albert Closi and Victor Closi of the Bronx, cousins of the bridegroom.

A reception was given at The Flamingo in Saugerties for 100 guests.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed by IBM in Kingston. Her husband attended Saugerties High School and served with the U. S. Navy. He is employed by the Colonial Sand and Stone Company in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Closi are at home at 14 Van Gasbeck Street, Kingston.

Health for All

First Punch Against Disease

The use of drugs to combat disease which hasn't yet happened (preventive drug therapy or chemoprophylaxis, to give the method its medical name) is one of the more exciting activities of modern medicine. Doctors have shown great interest in it and, in certain fields, achieved notable results.

Preventive use of drugs can be particularly important in the State of Alaska, which leads the nation in tuberculosis death rates. One reason is the low living standard in many Indian and Eskimo communities, some of which have only partly been reached by the benefits of modern medical science. The vast physical size of the state makes comprehensive TB prevention or detection programs very difficult. Some reliable method of prevention is therefore particularly desirable.

Several years ago public health officials of the Federal Government and the State of Alaska joined in a study designed to bring TB preventive therapy to a group of Alaskans and gauge the effectiveness of the procedure. Using the drug isoniazid, which has proved highly effective in the treatment of patients with TB, a supply of pills sufficient for a year's daily dosage was given to 3,000 persons in the high-prevalence tuberculosis area of Bethel, Alaska. Another 3,000 received dummy pills. All agreed to take their pills regularly for a year.

Six years later a checkup revealed, according to the Bulletin of the National Tuberculosis Association, that slightly under 2 percent of those who had taken isoniazid had developed TB. Of those who took the dummy pills, 4½ percent—more than twice as many in proportion—had the disease. The conclusion is obvious that a year of isoniazid taking can prevent the development of TB in a significant number of people. Tuberculosis experts, encouraged by results such as these, are advocating the wider use of preventive therapy with isoniazid.

17th Straight Highland Topples Liberty Club, 20-0

Highland's three-year winning streak reached 17 games Saturday as the defensive minded UCAL leaders turned back Liberty, 20-0, to clinch a tie for their second straight championship.

In winning their fifth straight this season, coach Lew Atkins' gridders scored just before the end of the first half and then clinched matters with 13 points in the final session.

The Indians moved to the Highland 28 late in the second quarter. However, the home moved the surge and then stopped 72 yards for the game's first score.

Southpaw quarterback Greg Cappillino passed to halfback Mark Moran to put the ball on the one and then soph fullback Charlie Hicks caught the drive by plunging over center for the score. Cappillino passed to Tom Canino for the extra point.

Neither side threatened in the third period. In the last stanza, Highland went 52 yards in five plays with Cappillino passing to Cos Trapani for the TD. The quarterback booted the point after.

Art Judge of Highland picked off a Redski pass with less than four minutes to play. Moran climaxed a 35 yard drive with a scamper from the 11.

Mahopac Topples Roosevelt, 26-13

Mahopac intercepted three passes and they aided in a 26-13 non-league win Saturday; over visiting Roosevelt of the DCSL.

Poughkeepsie On Top, 24-0

Scoring in every quarter but the second, the Pioneers of Poughkeepsie High whitewashed Our Lady of Lourdes, 24-0, in a DCSL contest Saturday at River-view Field.

While the winners picked up 242 yards on the turf and another 77 in the air, their defense limited the Warriors to a net of 82 yards rushing and only nine passing.

Halfback Runs 10, 19, 76 Yards; Boggs Goes 54

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Dietz Stadium was like an ice box but halfback Bill Dugan was red hot Saturday night as he scored three touchdowns on runs of 10, 19 and 76 yards in leading Kingston High to an impressive, 27-6, decision over Vincentian Institute of Albany.

In closing the home season with their fourth decision in six starts, coach Bill Hurley's Maroon gridders dominated this one from start to finish. Dugan and fullback Gerard Boggs tore the Vincentian line to shreds with their scintillating running.

In addition to his scoring antics, Dugan gained 131 yards in 15 carries. Boggs picked up 153 yards in 18 attempts, including a touchdown run of 54 yards. It was quite a night for the flashy duo.

The defending Diocesan champions fell behind in just three plays after KHS put the kickoff in play on the 42.

Score on 3rd Play
Boggs took a handoff from quarterback Pete Watzka on the 46, cut to the outside and turned on his motor. He just outraced the Vincentian secondary on the 54 yard callup. Tim Bowens was wide with his attempt at the extra point.

The upstaters came back to knot the score, thanks to a bad snap from center. Joel Tomson was in punt formation on the 35. The pass was over his head and he was forced to fall on the pigskin on the 16.

The Lions tallied in three plays with halfback Earl Lewis taking it in from the two. He was tackled on his try for the extra point.

That made it a 6-6 game and it was then the time Vincentian was in contention. Mr. Dugan took care of the situation.

He scored his initial touchdown early in the second period after a pass interception by Greg Rios had given the home side the ball on the V 28.

Rios carried to the 19 and Boggs to the 10 before Dugan took it over. Boggs was halted by the defense when he attempted to drive for the PAT.

The Lions failed to move against the rugged KHS forward line and were forced to punt into the strong wind. Kingston put the ball in play on the 33 and scored in two plays.

Boggs crunched his way to the 19 on the first try and Boggs went the rest of the way running to the outside and moving past the befuddled Vincentian defense. Bowens was perfect with his placement.

On the initial play from that point, Dugan went the distance of 76 yards. He escaped tacklers on two different occasions and was given a final sendoff by Rios, who leveled a defender with a bone crushing block.

The point after failed but the locals went into the dressing room with a 26-6 lead at halftime.

Kingston was content to keep the ball mostly on the ground after the intermission, using short yardage plays. A drive was thwarted on the Vincentian nine when Watzka tried a pass and it was intercepted.

Four plays later, a pass from center sailed out of the end zone and the locals picked up a safety and their final two points.

The visitors made a couple of first downs in the fourth period but they couldn't start a sustained drive. Hurley sent his bench into the fray in the final four minutes.

GRID SETTINGS — The win was the fourth straight at home for the KHS eleven, which has an off week before playing at Middletown on Nov. 12 and at Newburgh on Thanksgiving morning.

Halfback Ken Scherer, linebacker Don Cashdollar, defensive tackle Bill Kidd and defensive end Ray Lindhorst were out with injuries. All except Lindhorst are expected back for the final two games.

The latter is out for six weeks with a broken bone in his ankle. The temperature was down in the low 40s by game time and the strong wind didn't help the 1,500 spectators to keep warm.

The Kingston High band put on another entertaining halftime show. Dennis Klonowski and Jack Baltz were outstanding on defense for the winners.

SHS, Albany Academy Tie Late Touchdown Earns Upstaters 14-14 Deadlock

Albany Academy scored on its first play from scrimmage and on the last and earned a 14-14 deadlock with visiting Saugerties Saturday at the upstate gridiron.

Seeking their first win ever over a Saugerties football team, the Cadets recovered a SHS fumble on the 24 early in the game.

Quarterback Bruce Kauffman threw a left-handed pass to Bob Wagner on the first play and Steve Rosenstein booted the PAT.

Academy recovered another Sawyer fumble after the ensuing kickoff but John Nagy thwarted the bid with an interception on the one.

Saugerties stormed back 99 yards to the tying touchdown, the tally coming in the second period. The TD was made by Grant Crum, who was on the front end of a 16 yard pass from John Warner. Crum then threw to John Nagy for the extra point.

Several Scoring Chances
In the third period, the Sawyers had several chances to score but failed on four occasions to come up with the big play near the goal line.

Finally, with 1:10 of the game left, a 51 yard drive was capped by Crum's three yard pass to Nagy in the end zone. Joe Ferraro dove over the line for the PAT.

The home side went for the tying touchdown in that final minute of play as the Sawyers tried to stem the tide. They put the ball on the 20 after Carl Nickerson's kickoff went into the end zone.

A sideline pass to Tommy Gordon started the surge. And the Cadets a first down on the 34. Gordon carried 20 yards up the middle on a draw play to the SHS 46 to keep the surge percolating.

After two passes fell incomplete, the Sawyers were charged with a personal foul and an offside penalty, moving the pigskin to the 26. From there, quarterback Eric Gorzelink threw in the end zone to Wagner, who had slipped behind a linebacker. Rosenstein then booted the tying point.

Albany then worked an on-side kick but the game ended before another play could be run.

The Sawyers did well on offense, getting the first downs while rushing for 201 yards and passing for 61 on four completions in eight attempts.

Rondout Wins, 20-6; Elston Scores Twice

Halfback Chuck Elston uncorked a couple of dazzling runs and the Ganders of Rondout Valley won a 20-6 UCAL decision Saturday at New Paltz.

The Rondout star went 54 yards in the opening quarter and another 50 in the third session. In between, coach Chick Meehan's Ganders had a second period safety and a touchdown from two yards out by quarterback John Meehan Jr.

Lee Halverson, the New Paltz ace, put his club on the scoreboard in the final session when he scored from the two to cap a 52 yard drive. Halverson was the ball carrier when the Ganders scored their second period safety.

The triumph sends Rondout into a second place tie with Liberty and Onteora.

Late Rally Cut Short by Clock

Pine Bush High moved 52 yards to a touchdown from the opening kickoff and went on to defeat Onteora Central, 12-6, in an Ulster County Athletic League (UCAL) game Saturday at Boiceville.

Fullback George Giveans, taking up the slack caused by the injury to ace Rich Zajick, scored twice for the winners to climax drives of 52 and 50 yards.

A blocked punt on the Pine Bush 4 set up the only Onteora score. Alan Cocks, a hard runner throughout the day, plunged over from the 2 on third down. Bruce Stoutenberg was stopped on a run for the extra point.

The defeat virtually eliminated Onteora from the 1966 UCAL pennant chase and left the Indians in a 3-2 tie with Rondout Valley Central and Liberty High.

Highland High, 20-winners over Liberty, are now 5-0 and assured of no worse than a tie for first place.

Sluggish through most of the game, the Indians caught fire after their 4th period TD and were storming goalward when time out on a drive that started on their 9 and ended on the Pine Bush 33 where Pete Glass, out in the clear, barely missed a Charley Moore pass.

Zajick, who was injured late in the first period, returned Onteora's opening kickoff to the Pine Bush 48. Ten plays later — helped by penalties of 5 and 15 yards against OCS — Giveans plunged over from the 1. Pine Bush got two chances at the extra point and missed.

Onteora's opening drive promised a bright afternoon as fullback Alan Cocks tore the Pine Bush line to shreds with thrusts of 11, 6 and 9 on his first three carries. The drive came to a halt however on a fumble at Pine Bush's 39.

Halfback Steve Sudol later stole the ball on the OCS 47 but a brilliant run by Zajick to the 11 was nullified on a penalty.

The percentages caught up with Onteora in the third period when they gambled on 4th and 2 at the Pine Bush 45 and lost. The Bushmen took over and with Giveans doing heavy duty marched 50 yards in seven plays to move ahead 12-0.

John Hoyt blocked a Pine Bush kick on the 15 and the ball was downed on the PB 4. Pete Dan Riggins.

Port Jervis Tops
Farley Team, 36-0

Port Jervis played its finest football game of the season and turned back visiting Cardinal Farley Military Academy, 36-0, Saturday.

The Cadets, who had beaten Kingston, 21-6, the previous week, were no match for the fired-up Raiders. The home side spilled halfback Charles Marvin in the end zone in the first period and never let up the rest of the way.

Quarterback Tom Gastmeyer passed for 140 yards and kept the Port offense in high gear all the way.

Newburgh Raps Beacon, 30-20

Newburgh scored 30 points in the first half and then held on to beat homecoming Beacon, 30-20, in a non-league football game.

In winning their second game of the season, the flashy Goldbacks picked up a first period safety when Nate Milligan was tackled in the end zone.

The visitors then uncorked a 60 yard drive with George Butwell scoring from up close. Two plays later, the Beaconites lost the ball via a fumble and on second down, Jim Curry smacked over from the two and Joe Politi kicked the point.

The Goldbacks added another safety and two touchdowns in the second quarter and then watched as the losers made a game of it in the second half.

St. Francis de Sales Captures Dick Hinkley Memorial Run

St. Francis de Sales of Phoenicia won the annual Dick Hinkley schoolboy run Saturday at Hasbrouck Park. The champions amassed 14 points to nip St. Mary's of Kingston and Immaculate Conception, who had 12 points each.

Individual winners were Ron Graham, St. Peter's, Rosendale, midget race; Peter Olen, Immaculate Conception, tyre race; Jack Stahl, St. Francis de Sales, jayvee race.

The cross country type race is held annually as part of National CYO week in Ulster County. The race is named in memory of the late Richard (Dick) Hinkley, who for many years worked for the youth of Ulster County. He was president of the Ulster County Lay committee.

Packers Decision Detroit

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski can afford to be patient but Elijah Pitts, the odd man in Green Bay's backfield galaxy, isn't playing the waiting game.

Anderson and Grabowski, the heirs-apparent to veteran stars Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor, counted their bonus money Sunday while Pitts, filling in for the injured Hornung, led the Packers to a 31-7 National Football League triumph over the Detroit Lions.

Gains 99 Yards

Pitts, a speedster from little Plummer, Ark., College, hurried for 99 yards — most in one game for a Packer this season — and scored three touchdowns as the defending NFL champions romped to their seventh victory in eight starts.

He carried five times for all but 10 yards in a 55-yard second-quarter drive, bolting over from the four for the first Green Bay touchdown, then plunged three yards for another score and caught a 24-yard TD pass from Bart Starr.

Pitts, who made the Green Bay club as a 13th round draft pick in 1960, has run for 178 yards and caught eight passes for 210 yards this year, surpassing his 1965 figures in each department.

Hornung, who suffered a pinched nerve in his neck three weeks ago, was available for action but did not play for the second straight game.

The Packers' third straight one-sided victory protected their two-game Western Division lead over the Baltimore Colts, who whipped Los Angeles 17-3 behind record-breaking Johnny Unitas. Unitas threw two touchdowns passes, including an 89-yard bomb to John Mackey on the Colts' first offensive play — and bettered Y. A. Tittle's career record for passing yardage.

Elsewhere, Dallas rocked Pittsburgh 52-21; Cleveland trampled Atlanta 49-17; Minnesota drubbed San Francisco 28-3 and Washington downed Philadelphia 27-13.

Don Meredith fired four touchdowns passes, including an 84-yarder to Pete Gert; Mel Renfro returned a kickoff 87 yards for a touchdown and linebacker Lee Roy Jordan scored on a 49-yard interception run-back, leading Dallas past the Steelers.

Albany Area Players Capture Three Major Bridge Laurels

Capital district players dominated the closing session of the 13th annual Hudson Valley Contract Bridge Association's sectional tournament Saturday and Sunday at the Elks Lodge in Kingston.

Three of the five major titles at stake went to the upstaters. The team of Fours, played as an Open event, was won by the Schenectady-Delmar quartet of Mrs. Carol Bunnecke (Schenectady), Mrs. Thomas Petersen Jr. (Delmar) and D. Murray Melton-Joseph Skye of Schenectady.

Dr. M. M. Sandler and A.D. Burmaster of Albany captured the men's Pairs title while Harry Nichols and Howard Latin of Albany won the Open Pairs.

Two area teams also took home divisional titles. Mrs. Iris Weinstein of Accord and her New York city partner, Mrs. Betty Colwin, won the Women's Pairs. Dr. and Mrs. Harry McNamara of Hurley took consolation honors for Hudson Valley players.

The summaries:
Team of Fours (Open) — 1. Mrs. Carol Bunnecke (Schenectady), Mrs. Thomas Petersen Jr., Delmar; D. Murray Melton-Joseph Skye, Schenectady; 2. Ralph Wesselmann, Shokan; Thomas Goodwin, Poughkeepsie; 3. Alan Truscott, Hastings; Walter May and Simon W. Kantor-Alan Collins, Mechanicville.

Sport Club Gains 1-0 Victory

Reinhardt Goal

At 80-Minutes

Tops New York

Kingston Sport Club Kickers and West New York battled 80 minutes Sunday before a brilliant three-man sequence set up a Kicker's score for 1-0 German-American Soccer league victory at Oehler's Field.

The triumph was another major achievement for Manager Bob Graves' Kickers who picked up their third win six starts and handed the Jerseyites their second setback in seven outings.

The win also boosted the Kingston point total to seven, within striking distance of the first division.

Don Meredith fired four touchdowns passes, including an 84-yarder to Pete Gert; Mel Renfro returned a kickoff 87 yards for a touchdown and linebacker Lee Roy Jordan scored on a 49-yard interception run-back, leading Dallas past the Steelers.

Al Miller, the State University (New Paltz) soccer coach switched to the outside right position, passed to inside left Tony Reinhardt, who relayed to outside left Grasmier and then back to Reinhardt who drove in for the kill.

Last Ditch Rally
West New York stormed the nets in the last 10 minutes but veteran halfback Reiner Schwobel, climaxed a superb stint of goal tending by throwing back every thrust.

Manager Graves described the Kickers victory as a "superb team effort." Toni Alexander, Lee Roberts, Kurt Vicks and Reinhardt were singled out for outstanding play.

Veteran George Vizvary and Miller launched several smart plays that were foiled by the superb work of the West New York goalie.

Despite the spirited action and grinding defensive play, Referee Malinski of Brewster was applauded by the soccer-conscious spectators, a rare tribute to a soccer official.

The Kingston lineup:
Goal — Reiner Schwobel; RFB — Roberts; LFB — Tony Alexander; RB — Fuchs; CH — Sodermann; LHB — Lotze; OR — Vicks; IR — Vizvary; CF — Reinhardt; IL — Miller; OL — Grasmier.

Middies Rout Pleasant, 38-6

Rushing for 313 yards and adding, another 168 via passing Middletown gave Mont Pleasant a lesson in football Saturday at Wilson Field with a 38-6 win over the highly touted upstaters.

It took the Blue and White more than a quarter to score, but once the touchdowns started, the Schenectady team was never in contention.

Halfback Larry Wyatt began scoring with a six yard slant off tackle in the second period. Dick Field kicked the extra point.

Before halftime, the Middies went 52 yards with Wyatt going in from the two and Field again booting the point. The score in the first half came when soph quarterback Paul Hughes passed for 11 yards to Charlie Aho.

Middletown scores in the second were made by fullback Bill Ogden on a pair of two yard runs and by reserve halfback Bobby Lewis. Pleasant scored against reserves late in the game.

Pleasant's stats:
First Downs ..... 10
Rushing Yards ..... 144
Passing Yards ..... 13
Passes ..... 2-13
Passes Intercepted by ..... 2

Blaze Damages Broadway House

A two-story, frame house at 296 Broadway, was badly damaged by fire on its first floor this morning.

Firemen, called at 10 a. m., said the blaze had started in a first floor bedroom apparently from children playing with matches. It spread over the lower floor, to the upper unoccupied floor and attic causing heat and smoke damage there.

The first floor is occupied by Mrs. Charlene Donaldson and family. Contents of the bedroom were destroyed.

An alarm from Box 2414, Broadway and Delaware Avenue followed the first call. Units from the Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks, Rapid and Union companies were mobilized with Chief James M. Brett and Capt. Harry L. Sills in charge.

Voltaire, French author and philosopher, was born Nov. 21, 1694.

Talmud Torah Offers Course in Jewish History

The Kingston Talmud Torah Board announces a new post-graduate course open to all youth interested in furthering their religious education.

The course will include such subjects as Basic Principles of the Jewish Religion, History of the Jews, Modern Times and the Development of Israel from 1948. The program will be expanded to include other topics in the Ethics and History of Judaism.

Both Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport and Rabbi Harry Schechter will teach the course which starts Monday, Nov. 7, at 5:30 p. m., at the Jewish Community Center, 96 Maiden Lane.

There will be two sessions each month, on the first and third Mondays. Registration may be made by calling Mrs. Alfred Rose, secretary, at the first session Nov. 7.

The Talmud Torah of Kingston is a New York State Board of Regents approved school which serves the needs of Congregations Agudas Achim and Ahavath Israel. Although the course is designed as a continuing religious education for Talmud Torah graduates, the class is open to all Jewish youth in the Kingston area.

Chairman Joseph Cohen urges all interested to register for the course.

Cold, Rain Area Outlook

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecast for Upstate New York, as prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, from Tuesday through Saturday:

Cold most of the week. Rain at beginning and likely again at the end of week, likely, mixed with some snow at higher elevations and over the more Northern sections.

Temperatures will average 5 to 10 degrees below normal. Day time highs, mainly in 40s or low 50s, night time lows near 40 at beginning, dropping to 20s and low 30s after the first rain period.

Precipitation amounts will be generally around one half inch or more.

RVCS Will Vote Tuesday on Site

Rondout Valley Central School District voters will go to the polls on Tuesday to cast ballots on a proposal calling for the purchase of a 35-acre site in the Town of Rosendale for a new elementary school.

The Board of Education and the Citizens Building Committee studied many properties and their choices narrowed down to two sites, one located on Joppenbergh Mountain and the other on Lucas Turnpike near the Cottekill intersection.

The Joppenbergh Mountain property was rejected because it would be too costly to develop and would present a hazard to children, either on buses or on foot.

The Lucas Turnpike site was recommended. It was reported that the cost of 28,000 represents a small increase in school costs, and figures for carrying the $28,000 over a 20-year period have been estimated as follows: Marbletown 7 1/2 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation; Rochester 6 cents, Rosendale, 13 cents and Wawarsing 10 cents.

Board of Education members contend that an affirmative vote tomorrow will provide the district with the needed land for present and future requirements.

Voting will take place on Tuesday from 2 to 9 p. m. in the high school gymnasium.

Ford, Humphrey Agree on Effect Of Johnson Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says President Johnson's Asian trip will not have any appreciable effect on the Nov. 8 election.

Republican House leader Gerald R. Ford doesn't think an expected campaign trip by the President later this week will help Democrats, either.

But they took different political paths to reach their conclusions Sunday.

"I do not believe that the President's journey — was in any way politically motivated," said Humphrey on NBC's Meet the Press.

He added: "I am sure the American people are pleased that the President went. I have a feeling that the attitude of the American public will be one of support for the President's efforts."

LEJ Won't Help Ford said the expected campaign trip following Johnson's return Wednesday would not help Democrats because voters have kept their minds on basic issues, headed by inflation.

Ford said on ABC's Issues and Answers that Republican leaders had been apprehensive Johnson's trip would "divert public attention from the basic issues bothering the American people."

Reports Car Stolen Constable George Retimer of West Shokan reported to the sheriff's office at 7 a. m. Sunday that a car owned by Charles Burgher of 43 Glen Street, Kingston, bearing license CU-2412, had been taken from the Minervini Restaurant about 2 a. m. It was reported the keys had been left in the car.

Rate 10 Senate Races As Down to Wire Ones

WASHINGTON (AP) — Political strategists are classing 10 Senate races, involving six Democratic and four Republican seats, as cliff-hangers as the final full week of active campaigning starts.

Although other close contests might provide election upsets, leaders of both parties now are concentrating their attention on Idaho, Illinois, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Oregon, Tennessee and Texas.

A consensus of party workers who have followed the campaigns closely is that there is no predictable sweep for either party and that most races will be settled primarily on personalities and local situations.

This could mean that the current Senate ratio of 67 Democrats and 33 Republicans may change only slightly in an off-year election in which the minority party customarily picks up additional strength.

The 10 races regarded as down to the wire affairs illustrate the seeming lack of an overriding issue that reaches across the nation.

In New England, for example, there is a sharp contrast between the campaigns in Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

In Massachusetts, the Republicans are running Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, a Negro, against former Gov. Endicott Peabody for the seat being vacated by GOP Sen. Leverett Saltonstall. Some Republicans fear a white backlash against Brooke but even that issue is blunted by Peabody's strong civil rights stand.

In New Hampshire, Republican nominee Harrison Thynne, a retired Air Force general, is trying to combine an outstanding World War II and Korean record with proposals to step up the Viet Nam fighting into a defeat of Democratic Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre. McIntyre generally has supported President Johnson's policies.

In Texas, GOP Sen. John G. Tower is depending on a Democratic split to bring him through in his contest with Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr. Although both are conservatives, Democratic liberals are angry with the administration of Gov. John Connally and may give Tower some help.

In Tennessee, it seems to be a case of whether Gov. Frank G. Clement, a veteran of many political wars, has picked up enough enemies to give Republican Howard H. Baker Jr. a winning margin. Baker is the son-in-law of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and thus has got a little added attention from Republican campaigners.

Two in Middle West The Middle West provides two top contests in Illinois and Michigan and a race in Nebraska.

Group Is Formed To Seek Equality Of Both Sexes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 300 men and women have formed the National Organization for Women designed to break through what it calls "the silken curtain of prejudice and discrimination against women" in all fields in America.

The group, formed after a weekend organizational meeting, said it would work for "a fully equal partnership of the sexes, as part of the worldwide revolution of human rights."

In a statement of purpose, it urged women to work for equality "not in pleas for special privilege, nor in enmity toward men, who are also victims of the current half-equality between the sexes, but in self-respecting partnership with men."

Betty Friedan, social critic and author who wrote the best-selling book "The Feminine Mystique," was elected president. Named chairman of the board was Dr. Kathryn Clarenbach, University of Wisconsin director of continuing education and chairman of the Wisconsin governor's Commission on the Status of Women.

The 300 charter members include men and women representing all religious, ethnic and economic groups.

Richard Graham, director of the National Teacher Corps and former commissioner of equal elected vice president and four other men were named to the 20-member board of directors.

The group called on the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to enforce laws prohibiting discrimination on the basis of sex and urged wider use of women in industry and government.

City Cops Seek 1960 Auto With Two Bullet Holes

Area police today continued to search for a car believed to have been marked at least twice by bullets after a city incident which brought gunfire and a chase over the weekend.

A police report at 1:30 a. m. Sunday noted that Detectives Wilmont Hall and Gurnsey Burger "were attempting to check a car at Foxhall Avenue and Grand Street, when its driver attempted to run down Detective Hall."

It was then noted that "shots were fired and it was known that two had hit the rear of the car at Foxhall Avenue and Grand Street." The car was reported to be a 1960 Chevrolet four-door Impala.

Another patrol car joined the chase from Albany Avenue. It continued over Route 587 to Route 28, and from there police said, the car apparently sped into the Hurley Mountain Road and got away.

RAINFALL Total At Cooper Lake Reported Way Up

An October rainfall of 2.81 inches in the area of Cooper Lake, the city's main reservoir, was reported today by Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent.

While this was lower than the 3.06 inches in October, 1965, this year's early fall rains in September and October were heavier in total. This year the two months, with a high total of 7.21 inches in September, and this month's total, poured 10.2 inches in the watershed against 9.02 a year ago.

Average rainfall for the month in the area is 3.96 inches.

Kingston's city engineer's office reported a rainfall of 3.35 inches last month. A good share of this came on the 19th when a storm poured 1.65 inches on the city.

October rains, although far lighter than those of September helped bring Cooper Lake storage up 1 1/2 feet, and it is now only some five feet below spillway level. It had been more than seven down at the start of fall.

Issue City Lab Mycology Permit

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan today said he has been advised by Dr. Douw S. Meyers, chairman of the Board of Managers of the City of Kingston Laboratory, that the laboratory has just been issued an additional permit in the category of mycology by the State Department of Health.

Mycology is the study of diseases caused by an almost unlimited number of fungus organisms. Diseases caused by fungi vary from simple ailments like athlete's foot and ringworm to serious and fatal diseases closely simulating tuberculosis and meningitis.

This new permit was issued only after the bacteriology department under the supervision of Paul Fugazzotto, Ph.D., successfully cultivated and identified three different sets of test cultures over the last six months. Dr. Fugazzotto is assisted by Mr. Vincent Meleski, serologist, and Mrs. Ernestine Pinkosz, M.T. (ASCP) junior bacteriologist.

The laboratory and its services to the Benedictine Hospital and the Kingston Hospital have been approved for many years in the areas of bacteriology, serology, virology, parasitology, hematology, clinical chemistry, transfusion services, blood grouping and Rh typing, tissue pathology and exfoliative cytology.
